Warren May Be The Key Figure

Gov. Earl Warren has announced as a candidate for the GOP nomination, and as such he is of interest to the South. He is determined that this time, 1952, come hell or high water, they will not vote the Democratic ticket if it is headed by President Harry S. Truman.

These voters will vote for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, if he is the nominee of the Republican Party. Not many of them will cast a ballot for Sen. Robert Taft. Most of them would accept Warren, though by no means with as much eagerness as they would embrace Eisenhower.

A poll of congressional Republicans, taken before Warren announced, reveals a preference for Senator Taft. That is not at all surprising. It is normal. For the past 16 years the Republicans have been nominating candidates, who were left of the majority of party members in the capital. And certainly they were to the left of the old-line rulers of party decisions who disliked Wendell Wilkie intensely, but took him only because they thought he might win. They didn't like Thomas Dewey either, but they walked softly around him because he could carry New York and its huge total of electoral votes. But he irritated them because he had ideas of his own and expressed them and was not "a sound party man."

The GOP conventions also adopted platforms for their candidates which were not at all what the GOP leadership believed. So, we have seen for the past 16 years that a Republican majority in the Congress always voted against the provisions of their convention platforms and against the judgment of their candidates who, though defeated, remained as the titular heads of the party.

Affinity

They and the national committee leaders like that. They always have. Taft is "a sound party man" in their judgment and will not say anything until he has talked it over and reached a party agreement on policy. So, the preference of the Republican majority in the Congress for Senator Taft is no more startling than the announcement that small boys prefer chocolate ice cream and cake.

The summer conventions of 1952 may be very exciting, or dull. They could be either, depending upon events.

If General Eisenhower is out of it, the GOP reactionary leaders, who are in control of the party and convention machinery, will almost surely seek to name Senator Taft, figuring he can win over Harry S. Truman—a bit of figuring which in time may prove inaccurate. If Harry S. Truman is out of the picture, they will probably be able to name Senator Taft, figuring that he can defeat any Democrat nominated. For this reason, Harry S. Truman, who most assuredly was not, to the immortal words of the comic character Snuffy Smith, "A hint the door when the brains were passed out," is unlikely to count himself out ahead of the GOP convention even if he has any intention of so doing.

But, if the issue should become Taft and Truman, the South will assuredly figure in a manner important and perhaps emphatic in the naming of the president in 1952.

South

The South will not vote for Senator Taft. If he is nominated against Truman, there will almost surely be enough states to break away and throw their electoral votes to Sen. Richard Brevard Russell to make it impossible for the electoral college to elect a man. The college will have to compromise or place the election in the House of Representatives, as provided by the constitution.

There Senator Russell, who has the confidence of the Congress, would have a really excellent chance of becoming president. A deadlock in the electoral college, or a decision by the House members, is not such an impossible long-shot as it seems.

All of which makes Governor Warren even more important to GOP considerations. He is more acceptable to the general electorate than Senator Taft. He might be able to prevent a Southern revolt in the electoral college.

There is a lot of time. A Supreme Court decision on segregation could either make assured an even wider rebellion from the South than now indicated, or practically forestall one. At any rate, our friends, the Republicans, have much to think about.

Ike Will Accept GOP Nomination, Duff Says Here

By LEE FUHRMAN

The American people can expect an announcement "in due course" that General Eisenhower will accept the Republican bid for the 1952 presidential nomination, Sen. James H. Duff (Rep., Pa.) firmly forecast in Atlanta Friday night.

Touching on international aspects of Ike's potential candidacy, Senator Duff said:

"He is the one hope of preventing World War III. The Russians know him and are afraid of him. The people of the Western powers know him also. He could unify this country as no other man could, and under his confident leadership the world as a chance for peace."

Further, said Senator Duff, Eisenhower "could crack the Solid South and win many Southern states, including Virginia." Senator Duff, who said he had a "couple of talks" with Eisenhower during the general's recent visit to Washington, frankly stated: "We have every reason to believe that General Eisenhower will be available for the GOP nomination, under the proper conditions. Certainly myself and others in the Republican Party would not be pushing his candidacy if we felt otherwise."

"I believe the American people expect an announcement in due course that General Eisenhower will accept the bid—or at least an announcement one way or the other. And certainly we wouldn't be 'plugging' Eisenhower just to get out on a limb, or have others get out on a limb."

The senator, who halted in Atlanta between planes en route from New Orleans to Washington, continued: "When I talked with the general recently in Washington, he said his remarks were privileged, as certainly they are at this time. But shortly after that, you will recall I made a trip to Texas on behalf of the general's campaign."

Senator Duff, one of the leading

OUSTED BY PRESIDENT
T. Lamar Caudle

Tax Unit's Caudle Fired By Truman

New York Times News Service

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 16—The White House announced late Friday that President Truman had requested and accepted the immediate resignation of T. Lamar Caudle as assistant attorney general in charge of the tax division.

Joseph Short, Mr. Truman's press secretary, said Caudle had been asked to quit because "he had engaged in outside activities which the President feels are incompatible with the duties of his office."

"As far as the President knows, he has done nothing illegal," Short said in response to questions at a press conference here.

The ousted Justice department official had been under fire before the House ways and means committee, headed by Representative King (Dem., Calif.).

His removal signaled the spread to the Justice department of scandals which already had touched the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Internal Revenue Bureau and the Alcohol Tax Unit.

Short was asked what specific outside activities in which Caudle engaged were found objectionable by the President.

"I'm not going into that," Short replied.

He said he did not know precisely when the resignation had been requested, but that it had been "in the last two or three days."

Asked if the request for the resignation had grown out of anything the President learned in his telephone conversation with Representative King, Mr. Short said it did not.

He said Caudle wrote a letter of resignation addressed to the President and handed it in Friday to Attorney General Howard McGrath who, in turn, telephoned the contents to Charles Murphy, the President's counsel. The resignation was accepted by the President as soon as Murphy advised him of the telephone conversation with McGrath.

West Germany Moves To Ban Reds, Neo-Nazis

BONN, Germany, Nov. 16—(P)—The West German government decided Friday to ask the newly established federal constitutional court to outlaw both the Communist and neo-Nazi Socialist Reich parties as unconstitutional.

Members of the Bonn Parliament have charged the Communist Party in West Germany is trying to undermine the state on orders from the Kremlin.

The Socialist Reich Party, advocating Nazi ideals, made startling gains in two state elections this year.

Allies Hope To Bridge Truce Rift

Solution Ahead, Spokesman Says

TOKYO, Saturday, Nov. 17. (UP)—The joint truce subcommittee met for the 30th time Saturday amid indications that the United Nations might change its tactics in a move to break the deadlock over a Korean cease-fire line.

Despite continued reports of "no progress" for several days, the official Allied spokesman cautiously predicted Friday night that the truce negotiations would solve the paralyzing problem. He said it was only his personal opinion but "I see no reason why some means should not be found to solve item two (the cease-fire line) of the agenda."

This optimism was given body by reports from Washington that the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff had suggested to Gen. Matthew B.

The United States is willing to accept a Korean armistice along the present battle line "on condition." See story on page 2.

Ridgway that a new effort be made to come to agreement with the Communists.

It was believed highly possible that a new effort might be in the form of a UN suggestion for a 30-day truce during which time prisoners of war exchanges and supervision of a truce would be discussed. There are other items on the agenda.

Under the suggestion, the UN would tell the Reds that if at the end of the 30-day period no progress were made, the temporary truce would be revoked and the Allies would resume military pressure on the enemy.

It was believed such a proposal would help clear the air of distrust now felt by both sides.

Communist propaganda programs from Radio Peiping have dwelt on this to some extent in the past few days. They stated that if the Allies were sincere in wanting a quick armistice there should be no objection to establishing an immediate demarcation line.

Negotiators met at Panmunjom Saturday morning after the Allied team journeyed there by sedan from the Allied advance base.

The communiqué on Friday's record session of five hours and 15 minutes in a new waterproof tent at Panmunjom said it achieved no "tangible results."

Fighting Lags As Sabrejets Chase MIGs

New York Times News Service

SPECIAL TO THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

TOKYO, Saturday, Nov. 17—Communist jet planes, which had been absent from the North Korean skies for the past few days or which rose only in small numbers, were back south of the Yalu River in force Friday. However, they avoided fights with United Nations fighters and when pressed, turned tail and fled back into Manchuria.

The land fighting continued to be mainly patrol clashes, with no sizable advances made by either side anywhere along the front. Even probing attacks along the generally dormant front were limited to platoons.

As the weather improved over the preceding day of thick haze and cold rain, Allied jets took off from their Korean bases and raced toward northwest Korea. Here in MIG Alley the Allied fighters found some MIGs.

At first there were only about a dozen Communist jets. Then they came in large numbers. By the end of the day Allied fighters estimated that the Communists had flown 116 MIGs into North Korea.

The largest batch of enemy planes was sighted in the afternoon by Sabrejet pilots of the Fourth Fighter-Interceptor Wing. They tried to intercept 50 MIGs but the Communist fighters wheeled and escaped into Manchuria without a fight.

Soviets Again Spurn Western Arms Plan, Restate Own Offer

VISHINSKY HOLDS UP "DOVE OF PEACE"
Soviet Ambassador to France Alexei Pavlov Is at Left.

PARIS, Nov. 16—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, who attempted to dismiss the Big Three disarmament proposals eight days ago with the statement he had not been able to sleep for laughing, attempted a comeback Friday with new counter-proposals. These included two old proposals, immediate unconditional prohibition of atomic weapons and a one-third reduction in the armaments and armed forces of the five great powers.

Once the assembly had adopted resolutions to this effect, Vishinsky declared, it should call for reports from all nations on their armaments and armed forces, including atomic weapons, and on the military bases they maintain on foreign territory.

Also Vishinsky proposed that the assembly should recommend the establishment "within the framework of the Security Council"—in other words subject to Soviet veto—of an international control organ to "control" the carrying out of the above decisions—with the exception of those regarding atomic weapons and foreign military bases.

Vishinsky, who obtained permission to speak a second time in the opening debate despite the protest by Hugh Casey of Australia, declared this afternoon that on Nov. 8 he had not had time to give the Big Three proposals the "analysis they deserve." He added that he had made only some " cursory remarks" and that as for his remark about laughing, "We may or may not talk about that again."

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman and Carlos Romulo of the Philippines both appealed to the Soviet Union Friday to cooperate with the Western powers in reducing international tension, which Schuman said would result in war unless it could be reduced. Schuman eloquently urged the Soviet Union to end the "fiercely

SURE OF IKE
GOP Sen. Lodge

Lodge Says Ike To Run With GOP

CHICAGO, Nov. 16—(AP)—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., named to head a national Eisenhower-for-president campaign, said Friday he was convinced the general will run as a Republican and beat anyone who opposes him.

The Massachusetts Republican told a news conference that he would not be "wasting time" directing the national drive if he didn't believe that General Eisenhower will make the race.

"I'm sure Eisenhower is a Republican," he added. Lodge, who first refused to confirm that he would head an Eisenhower movement, announced Thursday in the general's hometown of Abilene, Kan., that the general left no doubt that he was in the fight.

He had called the Abilene announcement a "news leak" and said that the formal announcement was to come Saturday in Washington.

Lodge said he "would think" that after formal announcement Saturday Eisenhower would issue a statement of his intentions.

But pressed by newsmen if he knew when Eisenhower would speak up, Lodge retreated and admitted he could not say. Lodge said he is convinced that Eisenhower "can beat anybody who will run against him, and this election would be the greatest single blow to communism that could be struck, because it would unite the whole anti-Communist world which is now in bits and pieces."

94 Reported Dead, Missing In North Italian Floods

REVIGO, Italy, Nov. 16—(AP)—The worst floods in north Italy's modern history covered at least 15 villages Friday, claimed 93 persons dead or missing and lapped at the outskirts of this city of 40,000, which lies between the raging Po and Adige rivers.

The Public Works Department said only blasting of dikes of the two rivers could divert the flood from Rovigo. An Italian fighter plane was specially fitted out to bomb the dikes, but fog forced delay of its takeoff until Saturday.

Premier and Mrs. Alcide De Gasperi were in the threatened city, 30 miles from the Adriatic coast, on an inspection trip. Loudspeakers urged the residents to withdraw. Fifty buses and 100 Italian army trucks were assigned to the evacuation.

Three feet of muddy water covered villages in the area, including "the town of the mutilated," built for Rovigo's wounded war veterans. A spokesman said 74,000 acres of farm land were flooded. Spiraling damage estimates were in the millions of dollars. A provincial legislator said 30,000 cattle have perished.

Among more than a dozen persons listed as missing was an Italian physician who volunteered to go into the flood area to aid a peasant woman giving birth to her tenth child.

Small boats and helicopters saved 80 persons isolated for 40 hours on a bit of high ground near Rovigo.

The U. S. Air Force arranged to move a helicopter from Lyon, France, to the area of Venice, 35 miles northwest of Rovigo, for rescue work. The Anglo-American occupation forces at Trieste offered aid, but the Italian government said it was not needed at the moment.

The floods followed several days of pelting rain. They came less than a month after extreme South Italy, Sicily, and Sicily were ravaged by rain floods which took at least 100 lives.

Deadlocked Jury Snags Case of Visual Assault

YANCEYVILLE, N. C., Nov. 16.

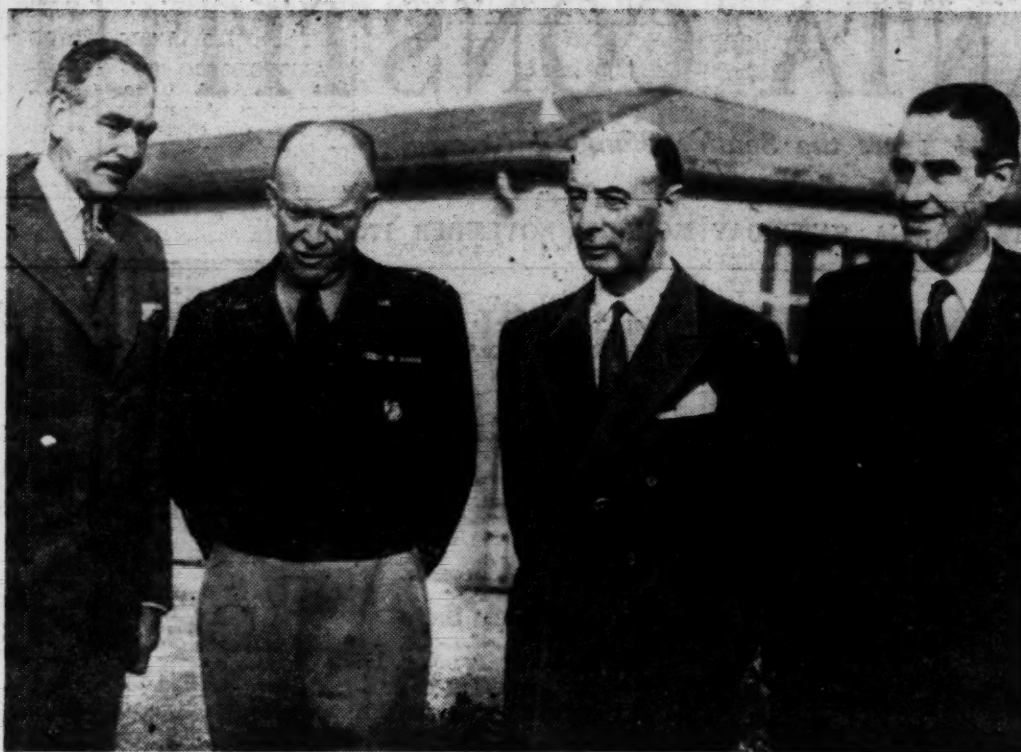

(AP)—A rural jury failed to agree Friday on whether Negro sharecropper Mack Ingram intended harm to a shapely, blonde teenage girl at a distance of 75 feet and the court declared a mistrial.

Two of four Negro jurors held out for acquittal of the 44-year-old father of nine through five hours of deliberation. In this case that attracted international attention, Ingram faced two years at hard labor on an assault charge although he did not touch the white girl.

Under North Carolina law, a person may be convicted of assault if the evidence shows he intended harm even though there was no physical contact.

Ingram was convicted in recorder's court here on the charge of assault after being taken into custody by police officers.

Ingram was "leered" at her and "chased" her across a cornfield near here June 4. Ingram appealed to superior court.

Unethical Lawyers Face Ban

New York Times News Service

Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—The Treasury department announced Friday a program to remove from practice before the Bureau of Internal Revenue and other Treasury agencies attorneys considered unfit because of having had previous criminal records.

The action follows an announcement made Oct. 31 by the House ways and means subcommittee investigating a series of scandals in the Bureau of Internal Revenue. At that time the committee, under the chairmanship of Rep. Cecil R. King (Dem., Calif.) announced it had been "shocked to find self-confessed participants in tax 'shakedowns' still admitted to practice and to find convicted criminals who have long since been sentenced in state courts still in possession of cards permitting them to practice before the Bureau of Internal Revenue."

The announcement of tightened regulations was made by E. H. Foley, acting secretary of the Treasury in the absence of Secretary John W. Snyder, who is in Rome to attend a North Atlantic Treaty Council meeting.

Foley in his announcement said the new procedures would provide:

1. The current enrollment cards permitting practice before the bureau will be void after March 31, 1952, and all persons now enrolled will be required to obtain renewal cards.

2. The Treasury field offices will be directed to improve their systems for continuous local check on the qualifications of enrollees.

3. Improved methods will be adopted to obtain directly at the Treasury department current reports from bar associations, accounting societies and state authorities regarding cases of disbarments and convictions of all applicants.

U.S. Bomber Chief Says Fleet Can Hit Heart of Any foe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—(AP)—The chief of the U. S. bomber force said Friday night his far-reaching air fleet could launch swift retaliatory attacks at the industrial and military heart of any enemy. At the same time, he cautioned it would be a gigantic task needing more than "a handful of bombers and atomic bombs."

Gen. Curtis LeMay, head of the Strategic Air Command (SAC), outlined the mission and capability of his force in an address prepared for delivery to the National Geographic Society.

He did not use figures in his prepared text to explain how big a force would be needed to wage strategic air war against a large, land-mass enemy like Russia. However, the Joint Chiefs of Staff have recommended a buildup of the U. S. Air Force from a current strength of about 90 wings to a level of about 140. The force of strategic bomber units, now between 12 and 15 wings, presumably would be expanded at least proportionately in the buildup.

LeMay said a popular slogan now is "let's get the battle back to the battlefield," to wage a war between soldiers and air forces on the actual battlefield. He said the U. S. was in sympathy with that slogan but that the advent of the atomic bomb and the long-range bomber force now make it difficult to confine a battle to a battlefield. Before that can be done, he said, two things are essential:

1. Destruction by interceptor planes of the air defense command of enemy bomber planes flying to attack the U. S. However, some bombers probably would get through the defenses.

2. Destruction of both enemy bomber fields and all war-goods industries, to wreck as much as possible of the enemy's bomber forces before it can become airborne.

Grace Purcell, seven-year-old Lovejoy child who was born without forearms, will leave Atlanta Sunday afternoon for Newark, N. J., where she will undergo an operation on her right arm to enable her to wear an artificial limb.

Grace spent two months last year in northern hospitals where she had her first operation on her left arm stub and learned to use her plastic and aluminum hand and forearm. But her father, R. H. Purcell, said she had outgrown the plastic arm and hoped to get a larger one.

Fund-raising campaigns led by Central of Georgia Engineer Henry R. Lee have made possible the operations and the purchase of artificial limbs for Grace.

9 Nabbed in Crackdown On Bug Operations, Still

By KEELER MCCARTNEY

Police smashed two lottery company headquarters and seized a huge illicit distillery Friday in a swift series of Atlanta area raids in which nine persons were arrested.

Approximately $3,400 in lottery tickets, in addition to a quantity of lottery equipment, were confiscated in the raids, police said.

Five persons—one white and four Negroes—were arrested by Atlanta Vice Squad Dets. J. E. Sikes and R. A. Boone in a recently opened lottery company headquarters on Ponce de Leon Avenue, N. E. DeKalb County officers arrested four white persons in a second lottery raid near Stone Mountain and also confiscated the distillery apparatus, a police report showed.

Dets. Sikes and Boone identified the four arrested on Ponce de Leon as F. S. Bone, 36, former New Orleans lumberman, in whose apartment the lottery was found; Richard Giles, 24, of 1073 Reynolds St., N. W.; Willie B. Sanders, 32, of 1085 Reynolds St.; Betty Andrews, 24, of 1085 Reynolds St., and L. B. Martin, 17, of 190 Merritt Ave., N. E.

The five were released under $1,000 bonds each for disorderly conduct—lottery.

Sikes and Boone said they entered the apartment occupied by Bone after a Negro man was observed going in with a large paper sack. The officers said they found approximately $1,500 worth of lottery tickets stuffed into a laundry box.

The four arrested in DeKalb County were identified by officers as Kelly Harris, 34, of an Eleventh Street, N. E. address; John Ellenburg, 30, of a Columbia Drive, Decatur, address, and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Wilcox, in whose home the lottery paraphernalia was found. DeKalb Chief Hoyt Sutton said they were released under $1,000 bond each.

Officers who had watched the residence on Bermuda Road, two miles east of Stone Mountain for more than a month entered to find Harris and Ellenburg checking up approximately $1,900 worth of lottery tickets, Sutton said.

Officers also confiscated three adding machines and four roles of tape, indicating the amount of business done, Sutton related. In a barn near the house, officers found an upright boiler, empty barrels, copper pipe and other equipment used in illicit liquor stills, along with 600 pounds of sugar, 200 pounds of corn meal, 100 pounds of barley and 50 pounds of yeast, Sutton said.

Wife Held in Killing Of Korean War Vet

BONIFAY, Fla., Nov. 16—(AP)—A 19-year-old Korean war veteran was shot to death by his bride of two months in a night club near here Thursday night, Sheriff J. R. Chance said Friday.

He said the youth was Sgt. Charles E. Farmer of Camp Rucker, Ala., and that he was holding the soldier's wife, Ruth Davis Farmer, 25, in the county jail.

He said the couple went to the night club together. During the evening, Sgt. Farmer went to the men's room and she fired two shots through the door. When he came out, she aimed toward her, she shot again. The bullet struck his heart.

Smuggler To Charge Kidnap Plot

MIAMI, Nov. 16—(INS)—The attorney for Cuban smuggler Gregorio Simonovich said Friday he is ready to charge three West Palm Beach men with kidnapping Simonovich and bringing him to Miami.

The attorney, Richard Morales, said that two of Simonovich's alleged abductors are members of the West Palm Beach police force. He said the warrant will be filed "as soon as all the evidence is rounded up."

Simonovich turned up in Miami Nov. 5, claiming upon his capture that federal agents shanghaied him from his Havana hotel. He is being held on $75,000 bond, awaiting trial on four counts of conspiracy.

The Russian-born Simonovich has been called the kingpin of Cuban smuggling by the Immigration Department. He successfully avoided prosecution in this country since 1947 by staying in Cuba.

West Virginia Bomber Crash Kills Pair

OAKLAND, Md., Nov. 16—(P) An Air Force A-26 light bomber, flying in fog and snow, crashed high in the mountains of northwestern West Virginia late Friday, killing at least two of three officers on the plane. Maryland State Trooper Robert Henline, first officer at the scene, said one body and parts of another were found near the wreckage which was scattered over about six acres. There were reports the plane exploded in mid-air, but there was no evidence immediately to substantiate this. One of the two engines, however, separated from the rest of the plane and plowed into the farmhouse of Ernest Shaffer. None of the persons in the house was injured. The farmhouse was some distance from the general area of the wreckage.

Crash at Langley Claims 3 Lives

LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va., Nov. 16—(P)—Three airmen lost their lives in the crash of their two-engine light bomber in an attempted instrument landing Thursday night. The plane was returning to Langley Air Force Base from a routine navigational training flight. Base officials listed the airmen as: Capt. Roger T. Shaw, 32, student pilot; husband of Mrs. Ione L. Shaw, Buckroe Beach, Va., and son of Mrs. Louis T. Shaw, Nashville, N. H. First Lt. Charles E. McElroy, 34, navigator, son of Ben M. McElroy, Oakland, Calif. Pfc. Dwight W. Lamb, Jr., 21, son of D. W. Lamb, Sr., of Livermore Falls.

Bill Munday Eats Jubilee Luncheon With NBC Vets

William C. (Bill) Munday, who pioneered football, baseball and basketball broadcasting over The Atlanta Journal's Radio Station WSB in the 1920's, has returned from New York, where he was an honor guest of the Radio Executives' Club at a luncheon celebrating the National Broadcasting Company's silver jubilee. Munday was honored along with such famed radio pioneers as Lanny Ross, Guy Lombardo, Jack Pearl, B. A. Rolfe, Harry Reiser, Jessica Dragonette, Charles Wininger and other old-timers at the luncheon on the Starlight Roof of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Another Georgian, Niles Trammell, now chairman of the board of NBC, was also an honored guest on the program, which featured Milton Berle and Ben Grauer as master of ceremonies. Munday is now public relations director for the Georgia Fire Safety Commissioner and this year returned to national network broadcasting on Red Barber's CBS Saturday football roundup.

Korean Vet Here Reported 'Killed'

Capt. H. C. Camp of Atlanta, who once was reported killed in action in Korea, was back in Atlanta with his family Friday. The unofficial report of Capt. Camp's death reached his wife while she was in a hospital in Camp Hauge, Japan. It was two weeks before the information proved wrong, and Mrs. Camp called those two weeks "the worst experience in my life." Capt. and Mrs. Camp and their four children, Larry Carl, Gerald Horace, John Wayne and Dorothy Karlene, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Camp of 102 Estoria St. S. E. and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Carson of 694 McDonald St. S. E.

Dixie Solons Hit Truman Rights Plank

Governors Silent After Conference

By JIM THOMASSON
Associated Press Writer

Southern governors were unusually silent Friday on President Truman's prediction of a strong civil rights plank in the 1952 Democratic party platform—the issue some sources believe might split the party.

But timing of Mr. Truman's statement—immediately following adjournment of the Southern Governors' Conference in Hot Springs, Ark., was a factor. Governors Herman Talmadge of Georgia and James Byrnes of South Carolina both indicated remarks they made in Hot Springs covered the situation.

However, shouts of defiance from Dixie Congressmen more than made up for any reticence of their governors. Two of them, Representative Priest (Dem., Tenn.) and Senator Kefauver (Dem., Tenn.), suggested that the President let the platform committee write the plank.

Mr. Truman told his news conference at Key West, Fla., Thursday that his Fair Deal program, including civil rights legislation, adopted by Democrats at the national convention next July.

Governor Kerr Scott of North Carolina was the only chief executive to comment. "I'm still hopeful they can work it out," he said. "If it's as stringent as before, I don't think it will sit well with the South."

Kefauver said he didn't think the President or any other man can write the platform. He added that it is too early to say what the platform will contain.

Priest expressed hope the President wouldn't insist on any plank "that can only create division and disunity at a time when above all else we so greatly need the maximum security." He said he hoped the committee and convention will reject any plank that tends to divide the country.

Two Mississippi Congressmen, Representatives Smith and Abernathy, voiced opposition. Smith predicted Mississippi will not accept either the platform or a candidate who runs on a platform that includes the Fair Deal civil rights program. Abernathy said the program will get the same treatment it got before, as he didn't believe any opponents would yield to it. (Mississippi voted the Thurmond-Wright Dixiecrat ticket in 1948).

Representative Allen (Dem., La.) said if Truman "comes back with the same stuff he has had in the past, I don't think he can get it over."

Senator Sparkman (Dem., Ala.) stated that the South will go into convention determined to rewrite the civil rights plank of 1948, and on writing a platform on all matters upon which Democrats can stand together.

Senator Byrd (Dem., Va.), who in recent speeches has called upon the South to gird for a fight over Mr. Truman's program, said indications at this time "appear to be all against unity."

On the other hand, from another section of the nation, Senator Anderson (Dem., N. M.) expressed hope for a compromise, with a civil rights plank not as strong as the 1948 one.

Call Threatens Taxman's Wife; Guard Stationed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—(P)—The Internal Revenue Bureau disclosed Friday that a Carolina tax official and his family have been provided with an armed guard following anonymous threats. A bureau spokesman told a reporter that Howard J. Friddle, chief of the Charlotte intelligence office, and members of his family are "being protected" on a round-the-clock basis by armed agents of the bureau. The spokesman said that the guard was ordered after Friddle's wife received an anonymous telephone call threatening her and members of the Friddle family. The threat followed a trip by Friddle to Washington with tax records. The Internal Revenue Bureau did not reveal the nature of the records. Friddle also has testified recently before the House ways and means subcommittee investigating irregularities in the federal tax collecting system.

Mail Service to Korea Will Be Resumed

New York Times News Service Special to The Atlanta Constitution WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—The Post Office department announced Friday that regular mail service to Korea will be resumed on Nov. 20. Service for all types of mail, by ship and air, was suspended to the area on July 11, 1950. Four months later the department removed restrictions on such first-class airmail as postcards, air-letter sheets and regular airmail letters for delivery in Korea.

COURTS AND COUNTY AFFAIRS

Grand Jury Seeks Relief For Peachtree Traffic

By ALEX JOINER

A traffic-conscious Fulton Grand Jury Friday called on city and county experts to do something to relieve the bottleneck at Brookwood station before the Christmas holiday season.

In a discussion with City Traffic Engineer Karl Bevin, Police Chief Herbert Jenkins, Traffic Supt. T. J. Sikes and County Police Chief G. Neal Ellis, grand jurors pointed out the snag has become worse since the expressway was opened and posed a serious threat to Atlanta businessmen during the coming shopping season. Bevin said the problem is most acute in the afternoon and suggested more green light time on Peachtree Rd. and use of a patrolman at Collier Rd. to supervise left turns from Peachtree. Police Chiefs Jenkins and Ellis agreed to furnish extra personnel to expedite the flow.

Earlier, the jury returned an indictment against George A. Wilkins for assault with intent to murder Frank R. Deal of 734 Central Ave. S. W. Wilkins allegedly attempted to kill Deal with a shotgun Nov. 10. It also indicted James E. Roberts, former Atlanta Transit Co. trolley operator, for involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of a pedestrian, C. S. Souter, Sept. 24, at Broad and Alabama Sts.

May Dismiss Suits

Atty. Thomas E. McElmore, who has filed three lawsuits against the Plan of Improvement, Friday said they may be dismissed because of denials by city and county attorneys that equipment mentioned in the petitions will be transferred from county to city. Superior Court Judge Walter C.

Western Union Official Arrested On Gaming Count

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(P)—A vice president of the Western Union Telegraph Co. was arrested here Friday on charges of conspiracy to violate gambling laws in Michigan. Two Michigan officials, bearing a warrant signed by a judge in their state, joined New York police in arresting Samuel Barr, vice president of plans and engineering for Western Union.

At Bridgeport, N. J., Judge David L. Horowitz fined Western Union and its Bridgeport office manager $1,000 each on conviction of handling $300,000 a year in bets through its local branch. The manager, Charles H. Frake, also was sentenced to one to two years in prison, but the term was suspended. Payment of fines was delayed pending outcome of an appeal.

The charge against Barr resulted from a raid Sept. 1 on a Grand Rapids, Mich., betting room where the Michigan officials said they confiscated a Western Union ticker used to transmit information from race tracks to offices of John J. Gorman, head of the Capitol City Publishing Co.

Letter From Wife Decides Man's Fate

CHICAGO, Nov. 16—(INS)—A letter and the law got Robert Land of Chicago in trouble Friday.

Superior Court Judge George Fisher was deliberating on a plea by Land's wife, Phyllis, 24, for separate maintenance and custody of their two children. Then Robert stood up.

He offered a letter from his wife that would, he said, prove that she deserted him. He gave it to the judge. It read: "I cannot stand these beatings any longer. I'm leaving."

Judge Fisher ordered him to pay Phyllis $35 a week until a divorce suit is settled.

Zoning Bid Denied to Radio Group

By HERMAN HANCOCK

The Atlanta Board of Zoning Appeals Friday turned down a petition to establish a broadcasting station on Stovall St. and also disapproved a request that the Salvation Army be permitted to use a residence at 672 Kennesaw Ave. N. E., as a home for women.

Dick Granville, who said he would be a co-manager of the radio station, asked that the Metropolitan Atlanta Broadcasting Co., Inc., be permitted to establish facilities on property fronting 550 feet on the west side of Stovall St. S. E., beginning at Sanders St. Granville told the board that Paul Whitcraft is president of the company, and that Belmont Dennis, Covington publisher, is vice-president. Granville said he formerly managed WERD and lives at 851 Ponders Ave. N. W.

A delegation of nearby residents opposed the station, and Councilman Lee Field of the Second Ward, in which the station would have been located under the permit, urged that it be turned down. The vote against it was unanimous.

Gas Station Okayed

Establishment of a filling station at Hemphill Ave. and 14th St. was approved Friday by Council's water committee, ending a long controversy over the facility. Paul Weir, waterworks manager, had opposed the station because of its proximity to water mains. Weir warned that any accident might result in pollution of the water system. A majority of the committee, however, discounted the hazard after officials of Pure Oil Company, petitioners, agreed to strengthen foundations.

Mrs. F. D. R. Is Guest Of Netherlands Queen

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 16—(P)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt arrived here Friday by air from Paris for a three-day visit as guest of Queen Juliana.

Mrs. Roosevelt will stay at the castle "Het Oude Loo" near the residence of Juliana's mother.

Ship and Tanker Crash in River

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16—(P)—A United Fruit Co. ship and an empty oil tanker rammed together in midstream of the Mississippi River here Friday. No injuries were reported. A huge hole was gashed in the side of the freighter, the USS Comayagua. The tanker, a Texaco ship, the Nauva Andalusia, was damaged also.

The Controversy Has Just Begun

President Truman's announced decision to make the controversial Fair Deal program the heart of the 1952 Democratic platform lends itself to a number of speculations as to what will happen and all of them indicate bitter controversy ahead.

The 82nd Congress has rejected the program almost in its entirety, as Mr. Truman must have known it would. Some of the provisions, including the FEPC and other civil rights legislation, have resulted in a bitter split within the party itself, with Southern Democrats fighting it all the way. It resulted in the Dixiecrat movement and the political coalition between the Southerners and the Republicans to defeat most of the Truman program.

Whatever else that can be said about the President, he is certainly a determined man. He has courage, too. However, the Fair Deal program proved the vote-getter in the 1948 campaign in the industrial areas of the East and Midwest which brought victory to the party.

By far the most intriguing political situation which has faced the United States in many decades is the riddle of General Eisenhower. Senator Taft has worked rapidly in lining up delegates for the 1952 convention and the boom for Ike has by no means crystallized within the Republican Party.

Truman's statement Thursday in which he left the door wide open for a future possible endorsement of the general, regardless of the fact that Eisenhower is generally conceded to be a Republican, will again leave the politicians in a quandary. It reopens speculation on the possibility that Eisenhower may be handed the Democratic nomination in 1952. Whether he can embrace the Fair Deal, and his statements in the past have indicated that he cannot, becomes an all-important question.

The year 1952 is going to be an interesting year. There is going to be a tug of war in each party, and the final campaign will be one of the hardest fought in history.

The worst possible combination of candidates would pit Taft against Truman. Such an election would decide nothing, leaving the United States as divided within itself as before. In such an election, personalities would be the key issue. None of the vital questions of foreign policy and defense would be settled, one way or the other, in a fight built around accusations and denials.

As for Senator Taft, he is attempting now to disprove contentions he is an isolationist in foreign policy. In 1940 he was quoted as saying "war is even worse than a German victory." In his new book which attempts to outline his views, the senator puts himself on record as favoring an alliance with Britain, backs rearmament of the United States and the Western nations, and calls for war if the Russians attack nations ranging from Japan to Germany.

This same Senator Taft last month said the war in Korea was a "useless" war, but that the United States would be foolish to withdraw from it and that "some kind" of intervention there was necessary. What does the senator mean?

veto in the past, the West has found itself powerless to carry out UN objectives. Such a control organization would be meaningless under any such arrangement.

Vishinsky is milder in tone and his proposals have the effect of putting the question of disarmament back into the hands of the United Nations, where the West maintains it belongs. He first proposed a disarmament conference of the Big Five nations, which would have the effect of leaving the heavily armed Russian satellites unaffected.

Is Mother Earth Headed for Breakdown?

Evidence presented at the National Academy of Science indicates that the earth is slowing down in its rotation. Each day in this century, the scientists say, will be one-thousandth of a second longer than the corresponding day in the 19th century.

One theory is that the masses of the interior of the earth are shifting. If they shift toward the axis of rotation, the old ball turns faster. But if they shift away, the movement is slowed.

So the experts say the masses are shifting farther from the axis. If so, they are not the only ones trying to get away from the center of things. This is an age of dispersal.

Regardless of what is causing the lag in the global spin, one thing is apparent. With the world moving so fast these days, even the earth itself can't stand the pace.

The Jaycees Go Out for Blood

The members of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce don't mind going that extra mile for the good of community and country. Already recognized for their annual Empty Stomach Fund drive at Christmas, the Jaycees have taken on another formidable project—helping the Blood Center of the Atlanta Red Cross Chapter meet its monthly quota.

Their specific assignment is promoting the recruitment of donors in businesses which employ from 50 to 250 persons. Organized in 20-man teams, the Jaycees are out building up a donor schedule that will help insure a steady flow of life-giving blood and plasma from Atlanta to our front line of defense in Korea.

Give these young men a friendly and co-operative hearing when they come around. They're on an extra tour of patriotic duty. They'd like to get this blood donor program set up and working so that they can swing into their Christmas project.

Whether it's filling an empty blood bank or empty stockings, they are giving unselfishly of their time and energy. They deserve help in both instances.

Pulse of the Public

Brown Cane Sugar, Pour Into Squeezings And Presto, You Have 'Amber Lightning'

Trion—Please permit me to defend your reporter, Celestine Sibley. Mrs. Luther Dent, in her letter to "Pulse of the Public," said she had never seen any amber "white lightning." Well, I haven't either, but I know a little bit about it.

It seems that moonshiners can get (or could get) a little higher price for amber squeezings than they can (or could) get for clear (or white) squeezings. To put the amber color in without killing anybody, one must use sugar. The sugar is heated in a frying pan or other suitable container until it turns brown. It is then mixed with the clear squeezings, and presto! "amber lightning."

I'm only 19 so I don't remember prohibition and I can't say I saw any liquid corn of either color. I'm only quoting a retired authority on the subject. ROBERT SMITH.

A Teacher, a Boy And His Pet Dog

Rockmart—Traveling west on West Ave. in Cartersville, I saw what seemed to be an accident of grave importance. Traffic had slowed down and as the cars drew near I saw a lady and a small boy hovering over an object in the street. Suddenly I realized that in the course of a very few minutes several cars had halted behind me and am sure they felt as I did. I saw a little boy looking wistfully through his tears at his beloved teacher as she carefully wrapped his pet dog, a victim of the highway, picked him up in her arms and carried him to the grass plot where he would not be disturbed by on-coming traffic. My hat is off to our teachers as they try to make the world a happier place for our boys and girls. MARCUS PHILLIPS.

A Long, Long Time Ago

Atlanta—That was a real interesting piece of Leo Aikman's advert The Dawson County Advertiser, Dahlonega Nugget and Cleveland Courier. I was up in "them" parts in a 10-C Franklin touring car many years ago, got lost in those high hills of the Smokies. I was at the Davidsons' print shop in Cleveland when Mr. Davidson Sr. ran his own shop and was teaching his two boys and one girl how to set type. That's been close to 50 years. John Davidson and I walked from Lula to Cleveland. Their home was at Loudsville. WILLIS H. DODSON.

Redwood City, Calif.—I desire to contact the descendants of the Marquis de Boisfeuillet whose daughter married Ralph Clay of Atlanta. In turn their daughter (my grandmother) married Edward A. Strong, whose son, Robert Weeks Strong, was my father. I am advancing in years and have some Clay relics which I would like to discuss with some member of the Clay family, including the Clay family Bible. My address is 2003 Middlefield Rd., Redwood City, Calif.

1952 Promises A Lively Scrap

Ellaville—Toll roads and Cadillac motors are in the news as well as each state electing its own President in 1952. Byrnes wants the Southern people to help him settle a personal feud with Truman while Talmadge slaps at the Democratic Party but says he cannot vote Republican.

Can anyone unscramble this mess? Byrd has been attacking the Democrats since Roosevelt days, but owes his rise to the Democratic Party.

Georgians are paying sales taxes to build roads and super-highways, but Talmadge wants them to fork over another penny per mile.

Indeed, 1952 promises a lively scrap! MARION JONES.

Recalls Days Before Democrats

Atlanta—I hope that all labor and progressive groups in America will not be misled by the tactics of some of the South's party splitters and cause us to get an unfriendly national Congress and President in Washington in 1952. Let us who can remember the 1920's and the 1930's, and those too young to remember, review our history and see if we are not much better off under the present administration than we were then and vote accordingly. BEN F. THOMAS.

A Rhyme a Day

"Will exchange automatic, twelve-gauge shotgun for baby-bed."—Want ad.

Sometimes a shaft of light breaks through... and helps us get a clearer view... and gives us hope as we peruse... the daily fare of dismal news.

It's quite depressing when we read... of bribery, of graft and greed... of accidents by driving-drunks... of bodies found in steamer trunks... of men who robbed the commonwealth... and moved to Chile for their health... (Most any spot's a healthful climate... that keeps a man from doing time).

It pains us that the ink-stained page... that chronicles the present age... repeats the news first printed in... "The Stone-Age Times and Bulletin"... and, although centuries removed... from all of that, we're not improved.

And then, in smaller type, we find... some news that's of the brighter kind... a couple weds, a child arrives... to add enjoyment to their lives... grandfather's chest expands with pride... the shot-gun can be laid aside.

'Miss Nell' Has Rung the Bell

There can be no doubt about it, the happiest woman in Georgia this week is Mrs. R. K. Stovall, of The Meriwether Vindicator at Greenville. For three years "Miss Nell" has had her head set on a Better Hometown championship for Greenville. When "Miss Nell" gets her head set on anything, there's no stopping her.

For three years, as chairman of the Meriwether County City's Better Hometown committee, she has been driving those Greenvilleans toward a top award in the Georgia Power Co.'s fine community contest. And now she's done it. Greenville has won first place and $1,000 in its population class.

Don't say a woman can't keep a secret. For two days before the official break on Thursday Greenville knew it had won. The Vindicator knew it and re-trained from putting out a special edition. But they're telling the world about it now.

What copped the cup for this county-seat town of 733 population? "Well, a new water system helped," says Mrs. Stovall, "and so did better sanitation. But mostly it was the spirit that came from those supper meetings we've had every month. Why, there were folks in Greenville who had been living here all their lives, yet they didn't really know each other. But we reached into every home and got them acquainted. Friendship, that's the thing!"

Friendship! That is the thing of which we need much more. We're not going to save the world with bigger warships and airships and H-bombs. Ultimately, the remedy must be bigger and better friendships. MRS. STOVALL has another very good reason to be happy this fall. Her friends in the Georgia press know that last winter the Stovalls went through a crisis when R. K. came to an Atlanta hospital critically ill. For weeks it was "touch-and-go" but the Greenville publisher made the grade and is now feeling fine.

YOU CAN say that again! "The milk of human kindness is never more diluted than when gossips gather at the pump."—Sparks Eagle.

The Weaknesses Of the Dixiecrats

WASHINGTON—In his speech before the Southern Governors Conference at Hot Springs, Ark., the other day Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn put his finger on the underlying weakness of the Dixiecrat movement. He could not have made a shrewder choice of arguments in his appeal to Southern Democrats to stay within the Democratic Party than by citing the loss of power and prestige that would fall the lot of Southern Congressmen if the threatened revolt against President Truman should give the Republicans control of Congress.

It is in this point that the weakness and the futility of the Dixiecrat movement lie. What is proposed is that Southern Democrats, in the event of a Truman third-term venture, veer off into another splinter party program such as the one undertaken in 1948. The purpose back of the move would be to deprive the regular Democratic nominee of enough electoral votes to throw the election of the next President into Congress.

Assuming that this might happen from a close election, the lower house of Congress would take over from a deadlock in the Electoral College. Each of the 48 states would be allowed one vote in the election of a president, with a majority of the state delegation determining how the state's vote would be cast. Twenty-five state unit votes would be necessary to elect a majority.

In the final showdown Southern congressmen would have a choice of doing one of three things. They could vote for either the Dixiecrat candidate or the regular nominee of the party, or they could vote for the Republican candidate. Since it is hardly conceivable that the tail would be allowed to wag the dog, the ultimate choice would lie between the Republican and the regular Democratic nominees.

Under those circumstances, no reasonable doubt can be raised as to what the Southern congressmen would be likely to do. They would cast their lot with the regular Democratic nominee, of course. To do otherwise would jeopardize the many powerful committee chairmanships and the seniority position held by Southern members of the House.

Speaker Rayburn delivered a telling blow when he reminded the Southerners of the important positions their members

Valley Daily Times

Here in the Deep South we have our old days and our nasty, rainy days.

It's seldom, however, that our traffic is tied up by a foot of snow and we have to wade through slush when the snow melts.

It's branches that sleet breaks the blemches of our trees, our telephone and power lines.

Most of us cuss the weather from time to time but when we compare our extremes of hot and cold with other areas we really have very little to cuss about.

Woods Grove Takes Eyes Of Improvement Judges

By CECIL COFFEY
Constitution Staff Writer

HIAWASSEE, Nov. 16—Judging in the North Georgia Farm Community Improvement Contest, sponsored annually by the Farmers' Club of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, was completed Friday at the Woods Grove community in Towns County.

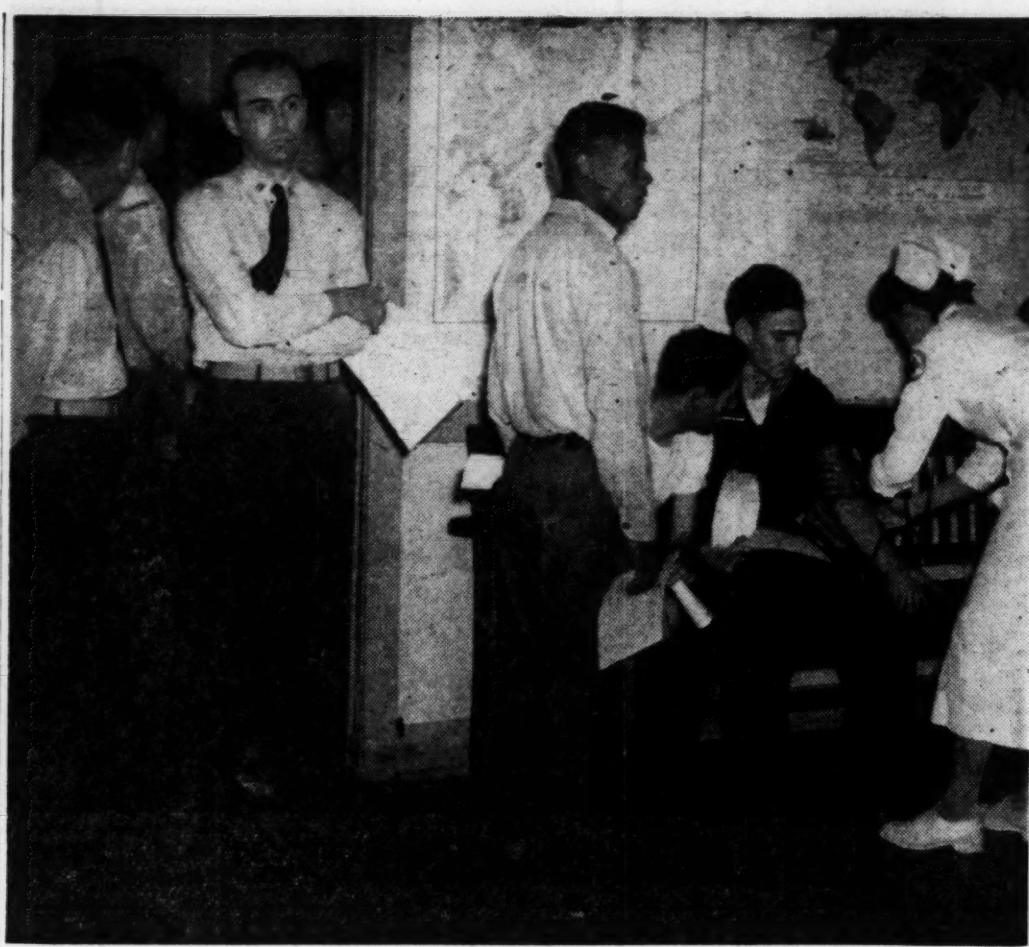

Nestled among the highest mountains in Georgia, Woods Grove was the ninth community judged in the final phase of the contest. Nine north Georgia communities were winners in county and district contests and this week's judging was to determine the top community in the area covered. Woods Grove community leaders reported 100 per cent participation in community planning during the past year. Among prominent improvements reported were: Increase in soil improving practices, permanent pasture and year-round grazing improvements, approximately 50 per cent increase in poultry production, the addition of enough farm machinery to meet current community needs and 100 per cent participation in spring, summer and fall gardens.

Woods Grove selected as its motto, "Not Great, But Neighborly." As part of the "neighborly" co-operation, the community has united to push church work, home demonstration and recommendations, a county health nurse fund, a Red Cross drive, the erection of new mail box posts and community signs and developing new leadership by promoting 4-H, FHA and FFA work among the youth.

Miss Annette Braswell is the home demonstration agent for Towns and Union counties. According to Friday's reports, she has actively supported and participated in most community projects.

Winners in the contest will be announced Dec. 17 at a banquet in the Ansley Hotel.

Cocke Raps Reds for POW Crime

Erle Cocke Jr., past national commander of the American Legion, said here Friday the reported Communist slaughter of more than 5,000 American prisoners in Korea was "probably so."

He said if they were not killed, the prisoners probably were taken so far into Siberia that they "are not living as human beings."

Addressing the Atlanta Lions Club, Cocke said the negotiations in Korea were "perhaps the greatest propaganda stunt the world has ever seen."

He pointed out that Communist radio broadcasters were predicting that General Ridgway and General Van Fleet would be fired for their failures "just as General MacArthur was fired."

Cocke said the United Nations still was three divisions short of having a striking force large enough to take the country.

Churchill Pins Hope On Blood, Sweat, Paint

WESTMORELAND, N. H., Nov. 16—(AP)—L. W. Churchill hopes hunters won't mistake his cows for deer this season.

Last year one trigger-happy nimrod was credited with shooting a goat. Another blew a large hole in a bear skin rug draped over an automobile radiator.

On the sides of his cows, Churchill has painted in large letters: "C-O-W."

Cocke said, he thought there was a 50-50 chance of avoiding war with Russia.

He estimated Russia out-produced the United States two to one when the Korean War began 17 months ago. He said the arms production rate was about even now, and he predicted by June, 1952, the rate "will be two to one in our favor."

He said 1952 would be a critical year, not only because of the national election and the end of the Marshall Plan, but also because Russia may decide then whether to allow this country to outstrip her in production.

IN OUR CHURCHES

Central Presbyterian Suppers Bring Bible Characters Closer

Church night suppers at Central Presbyterian Church are a weekly affair. And members who attend these Thursday night get-togethers hear Scripture readings, stories and songs along with enjoying food and fellowship.

Currently, Dr. Stuart R. Oglesby, pastor, is helping his congregation get better acquainted with Bible characters through "Personality Portraits From the Scripture."

Continuing a series on Job, which he will complete next Thursday, Dr. Oglesby spoke of Job's much-attested virtue, patience, in these terms:

"The peace the world gives is a peace that feels nothing at all. When a man has ceased to hope and ceased to expect, he has ceased to be patient."

Even when Satan smote Job "with sore boils from the sole of his foot unto his crown," Job remained the Lord's faithful servant, trusting in Him.

When Job saw the Lord, he hated himself and repented in dust and ashes. Dr. Oglesby said of this: "There remains no self-righteousness within us" when we recognize our faults and mistakes and ask the Lord to forgive them.

Dr. Oglesby described the Book

STORYTELLER

of Job as "coming out of antiquity and belonging to every age of the world." Job wanted to trust God "without fearing," and Dr.

Oglesby illustrated the fact by telling of Job's three friends who tried to rob him of his patience by seeking his rebellion from God.

He quoted Job's reply to them which has gained the Bible character the reputation of possessing a sharp tongue, "Doubtless you are the people, and wisdom will die with you."

When Job prayed for these friends, the Lord turned the captivity of Job, released him from the clutches of Satan and gave him "twice as much as he had before."

But, pointed out Dr. Oglesby, if all you remember of this is that Job was made wealthy and lived to a ripe old age, you have missed the point entirely, for:

"There is no bargaining with the Lord." Job asked for nothing, and in greatest trial, forgot himself with no thought but to "maintain mine own ways before Him."

Central's minister of music, the Rev. Hubert V. Taylor, Thursday directed the Chancel Choir in Part III of the Cantata, "Job," by Robert A. Bitgood. Young women members wore white blouses and young men appeared in shirt sleeves to have a pleasing likeness to one another without wearing heavy robes.

Listening to the well-trained choir doesn't deter the audience from joining in congregational singing which customarily begins

The brotherhood has chapters at the Cathedral, Church of Our Saviour and Grace Church, Gainesville, with a junior chapter at Riverside Military Academy. While in the diocese, Nace will install chapters at Trinity Church, Columbus and St. James' Church, Macon, and address new groups in various parishes.

Dedication in Decatur

The new Catholic church of St. Thomas More in Decatur, first Catholic church to be erected in DeKalb County, will be formally dedicated at 11 a. m. Sunday by the Most Rev. Gerald P. O'Hara, Archbishop of Savannah-Atlanta. Bishop O'Hara will offer a Solemn Pontifical Mass and deliver the dedicatory sermon. Mass has been offered in St. Thomas More Church since Easter 1950, but the church building hasn't been formally dedicated.

Located on Ponce de Leon between Adair and Water Sts., the three-story structure is on the same property as the recently completed convent of the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur, who teach in the parish school.

Father Thomas I. Sheehan is pastor of St. Thomas More; Father Joseph F. Ware, assistant pastor.

Thanksgiving Sermon

Methodists Okay Building At Junaluska

A new $30,000 permanent administration building for Southern Methodism's summer headquarters, at Lake Junaluska, N. C., was authorized here Friday at the annual meeting of the Junaluska Assembly board of trustees.

The trustees also gave the go-ahead to plan an archives building to house Southern Methodism's historical data, portraits and library, as part of the assembly's expansion program, Pres. Edwin L. James of Charlotte, N. C., announced.

Dr. Luther W. Wells of Richmond, Va., chairman of the Lake Junaluska fund campaign, told trustees from nine Southern states pledges to the improvement fund now total $529,000. The assembly's goal is $800,000.

Dr. Wells also reported $332,000 of the pledges have been collected. The trustees okayed plans for construction of private summer homes on 150 acres adjacent to Lake Junaluska and gave plans for reforestation on land from which lumber will be sold to defray construction costs.

In addition to the regular summer schedule in effect at Junaluska, the board also announced the following new conferences for next year: family week, Aug. 24 and 25, headed by Hazen G. West of Columbus, Ohio, and a conference for professional and business people on Aug. 8-10.

Korean Orphans Will Be Helped By Third Army

A special Thanksgiving offering to provide food, clothing and shelter for Korean war orphans will be taken Sunday at all post chapels and installations in the Third Army area, including seven Southern states.

Plans for the offering were worked out by Col. Silas E. Chacker, of Atlanta Third Army chaplain, who said the money collected would be sent to the United Nations command chaplain at Gen. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo.

He said the UN chaplain would be authorized to increase the spending for needs of Korean children.

"There is a tremendous need," Col. Decker said, "for many of the basic necessities of life. Third Army personnel want to share their own Thanksgiving with these unfortunate youngsters whose homes have been destroyed."

Moonshine Stills Scented at Harvard

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Phenix City police Friday afternoon arrested an Augusta man working in a stolen auto 15 minutes after he robbed a woman service-station operator at gunpoint, police chief P. M. Daniel said.

James E. Jenkins, 26, faces an armed-robbery charge here, a similar charge at Augusta and federal charges of transporting a stolen automobile across state lines, Daniel said.

Jenkins admitted the hold daylight robbery of Sims Service Station, where the chief said Jenkins held Mrs. J. F. Sims at gunpoint while he scooped $40.10 out of the cash register.

A bus driver who came into the station at the bank drive off called police. With only the information from Mrs. Sims that the auto bore an out-of-state tag, three officers found Jenkins' car in downtown Phenix City and arrested him.

Daniel said a check with Augusta police showed the car belonged to A. J. Jordan of Augusta, who was robbed of $29 and his auto at gunpoint. Daniel said Jenkins admitted the Augusta crime.

Ashby Seeks Post In College Park

John Ashby, college Park attorney, Friday announced he is a candidate for councilman from College Park's Second Ward.

Ashby, 35, is deputy director of civil defense for College Park and is currently serving his second term as commander of Lyle-Brewster Post No. 50, American Legion.

He resides at 128 1/2 South Main St., College Park.

Blinded Korea Vet State's First Trainee

Eighteen-year-old Bruce B. Caudell of Ashland, is the first Georgia veteran of the Korean War to enter the veterans rehabilitation training program set up for Korean veterans, the VA announced.

Blinded in one eye in fighting near the Manchurian border, Caudell is taking an automobile mechanics course at the North Georgia Trade and Vocational School at Clarksville.

Couldn't Pass Buck; Hunter Spends $1,500

DENVER, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Robert T. Broden of Denver returned from a hunting trip with a four-point buck, weighing 300 pounds. There was no space available in commercial food lockers.

In desperation, Broden bought himself a $300 deep freeze. There he found there was no space for it in the family's four-room home.

So Broden started building a porch on the house in which to place the deep freeze. Third estimate put the cost at $1,500, including the equipment and the trip, deep freeze and construction; $1,500—or about $5 a pound for his deer.

Augustan Faces Armed Robbery, Car Theft Charges

PHENIX CITY, Ala., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Phenix City police Friday afternoon arrested an Augusta man working in a stolen auto 15 minutes after he robbed a woman service-station operator at gunpoint, police chief P. M. Daniel said.

Painting Exhibit Scheduled Today

An exhibition of paintings will be open to the public Saturday afternoon at Castle Art Gallery, Peachtree and Fifteenth Streets, N. E., in connection with the film, "Quo Vadis."

Paintings by students at Atlanta Art Institute will be judged with a $50 prize for the winner. Paintings are illustrations of scenes from the film. The exhibition will open at 4 p. m. Music from the film will be discussed by Dr. Malcolm Dewey at 4 p. m. Sunday at the Castle.

Dog Houses Stolen, Canines Get Wet

Fulton County police Friday were looking for a thief who left two Lakeland View apartment dog houses and a doghouse in the weather not fitting for man or beast.

Mrs. A. C. Planter, apartment five, compared notes with Mrs. Horace Irving, apartment one, and found both their dogs' houses had been stolen from adjoining yards during the night. Dogs passed a wet-night but were otherwise unharmed, owners told police.

LAMP LIGHTER—Charles E. Shepard, secretary-treasurer of the Bell House Boys, one of Atlanta's most famous bachelor groups, lights one of the city's original gas lamps, presented by his organization to the Atlanta Historical Society.

Duncan A. Crawford, left, operating vice-president of the Atlanta Gas Light Co., and Beverly DuBois, society president, watch the ceremony. The lamp, to be kept burning perpetually on the lawn of McElreath Hall, has been moved nine times previously by the Bell House Boys.

Murder Charge Filed in Death of Aussie Sportsman

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, Nov. 16.—(AP)—An open murder charge was filed Friday in connection with the recent drowning of Australian Sportsman Freddy Macevoy and five yachting companions—injecting a suspicion of foul play into the case for the first time.

A charge of "voluntary homicide" against "X"—corresponding to an American inquest finding of "murder by person or persons unknown"—was filed by authorities here as a preliminary to full-dress investigation of the yacht wreck.

A court of inquiry will meet in Marrakech next week to begin a full-dress investigation of the matter.

Walter Premxmer, Austrian-born survivor of the wreck, has been arrested for questioning in connection with two alleged murders in Europe. But authorities said the cases had no connection with Macevoy's death.

Vishinsky's rejection of the Big Three proposals Friday, although in more measured language than he had used before, this time was definite. He charged that it was a "propaganda maneuver" to cover up the Western powers' rearmament programs and delay disarmament.

He objected again to the fact that the Big Three proposal was made conditional upon acceptance of a majority atomic control plan and an armistice in Korea. However, he declared that the reason the proposal was "totally unacceptable" to the Soviet Union was that it did not provide for a prohibition of atomic weapons and actual disarmament.

Treasury Probing Extortion Racket Of Chinese Reds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—A Treasury official said Friday the department is investigating widespread extortion of Chinese in this country by Chinese Communists.

Elting Arnold, chief of the foreign assets control division, said the Communists are extorting large sums of money by threats of persecution in China of relatives of Chinese in the U. S.

Arnold told a reporter the investigation already has produced enough evidence to show "this is a serious matter" and added "we are concerned about it."

He had no estimate of the amount of money sent to Communist China because of the extortion plot, but he said the treasury will make every effort to halt the flow of funds.

From San Francisco's Chinatown have come reports that at least three Chinese there have been driven to suicide in recent months by such extortion demands.

Clothing Lost In Fleeing Here

Helen Jordan, Negro, of 179 Boulevard, N. E., Friday told police she lost most of her clothing to a confidence man who invented a new twist to an old fleeing scheme.

The man asked her if she was interested in a job as maid on a train, she related. He instructed her to bring along her clothing and store it in a locker at Union Station. She disappeared. So did the clothing.

treating the prisoners of war well despite difficult conditions."

The UN maintains that all North Korean and Chinese Communist prisoners of war are well cared for in accord with the Geneva convention for the handling of prisoners. The Chinese Communists do not subscribe to the convention.

The Peking broadcast said that the "thousands and tens of thousands" of Red soldiers "who fell into the hands of the United Nations forces have been massacred." It went on to say that "American forces in Korea have massacred women and children, destroyed cities and villages."

INTERVIEWS CRITICIZED

The Red radio program asserted that UN headquarters have not allowed correspondents to interview returned UN prisoners released by the Reds. The rule at UN command is that correspondents will not talk with returned prisoners until the prisoners have been questioned by army intelligence officers.

Meanwhile, hints of skepticism arose Friday over the reported murder of prisoners as Gen. Ridgway pressed for a full investigation into the story that shocked the American nation.

It was suggested in Washington that figures on some of the reported killings may have been duplicated.

On the battlefield, the Armed Services Radio broadcast the three-day-old report for the first time to U. S. troops and their Allies.

The army denied any censorship in connection with the earlier radio silence on the story of mass atrocities. Field officers explained the delay on the ground there were "too many unknown quantities" and "so much conflict in the figures between various agencies."

THINGS PINNED DOWN

"When we could finally pin things down, we let it go," said Maj. Edgar L. Tidwell, chief of the Far East radio network. No official denials were forthcoming. He said the accuracy of the figures—or perhaps the sources of information—came from officers at General Ridgway's supreme headquarters in Tokyo and from British quarters in London.

The South Korean government jumped into the controversy. Government spokesman Clarence Rye said in Pusan that the government's records showed 255,094 South Korean civilians had been massacred by the Communists since the outbreak of the war.

Rye in a statement backed up Hanley's position and said, "I cannot understand why they are investigating Colonel Hanley's announcement." Hanley had cited estimates that 250,000 Korean civilians were slain by the Communists.

'Bread-and-Butter' Eve

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 16—For what it's worth: Life in Birmingham on Tech-Alabama eve—like life on a thousand county fair midway thrown together... Rich-est man in town: the fellow with a hotel room... This is what severe Alabama folk call a "bread-and-butter" game for Red Drew. Got to win this one, they say, or he's out. Such senseless demands are an item that makes college football publicly vulnerable... Abuse where respect should live, as Carl Snively is finding out at North Carolina. He gave Tar Heels the best football they ever knew for four years after the war, and now they turn on him in the middle of a player depression and the toughest schedule any North Carolina team ever played. Bring back Justice and Weiner. He'll show 'em then.

Headline: "Iran Wants 120 Million in U. S. Aid"—Next thing they'll want a major league, too... Pro Commissioner Bert Bell wants to eliminate the extra point from football. If they do, then I want putting eliminated from golf. Each is a corresponding art to its game.

... When an Auburn player made a juggling, grandstand catch of a scrimmage pass the other day, End Coach Gene Lorenzo requested: "Don't try to thrill me, son, just catch the ball."

Day of the specialist? Against Vandy last week, Jim Barton of LSU ran, passed, punted, caught passes, returned punts and kickoffs. Through the entire first half it was assumed he was twins.

Old head Russ Cohen, the back-field coach, circles the name of freshman Jim Hopkins and says he'll be the greatest back Clemson ever had. He's 6-2, 215, out of McCormick, S. C. Greater than Banks McFadden, Bobby Gage, Fred Cone? Notre Dame will lead the aggression against NCAA reins on television when the college people meet in Cincinnati in January.

Sport Magazine forges ahead with its 1951-52 basketball All-America, featuring Warner-Robins' Bill Spivey of Kentucky, Bill Mikly of Temple, Mark Workman of West Virginia, Rod Fletcher of Illinois and Jack McMahon of St. John's. In the same issue, Sport has a piece that says "Luback Makes Bears Go." Remember when you could buy five gallons of gas for a dollar?

When Herman Hickman wanted some authoritative suggestions about how to handle Princeton's running pass play, he called his old coach, General Neyland, last week. The General could tell him. He couldn't send him the personnel. Two members of Yale's starting backfield are named Shears and Spears. Can't say they haven't got the weapons, can you? Frank Leahy says Notre Dame's days as a titan are over. I say that if all the big-timers played big-time schedules, there would never be an unbeaten team again, wide open as football is now. Come to think of it, wonder if Cal Ermer (at 26) isn't the youngest manager the Southern Association ever had?

Nugent's Quotable, but Vulnerable

Tom Nugent can't keep his quotes out of trouble. First, Charley Callahan, the Notre Dame publicist, comes through the mail with a brief of clippings in which Frank Leahy "is quick to point out that he didn't invent the I-formation." At no point, however, is Nugent's role in the "I" business spotlighted. "But," as Charley emphasizes, "it took Notre Dame to plant it in the national eye." This goes without debate, because it stands to reason it's easier to blow up a dam with nitroglycerine than a firecracker.

Nugent Case No. 2: When the VMI coach got home this week, he let loose a barrage at Atlanta football fans, charged that some fan narrowly missed him with a pop bottle—the fan will be tracked down and lynched for no one with such bad aim should live—and that the VMI coach was "bombed by bottles." Reputable citizens from both sides of Grant Field say they don't recall a bottle barrage, and I trust they and Nugent attended the same game. And I don't seem to recall any complaints about Atlanta after the VMI visit of a year ago, which became a 14-13 victory. Other complaints included (1) Tech's uncolorful uniforms (worn to contrast VMI's whites), (2) 21,000 fans (which could be charged to the visiting attraction), and (3) Tech's "new-type football." It does win, that's true.

Georgia end Ed Filipovits' old high school fullback position at Northampton, Pa., has been manned by a 15-year-old nephew who wears Ed's No. 58. Sports publicity director Andy Rogers has quit at Tulane to take another job in December. Defeat takes its toll in any quarter. But get this one. At North Carolina, the head cheerleader resigned to the accompaniment of front page pomp in the campus daily, which said: "Minett will give... an official statement and will recommend Durwood (Nose), law student, to succeed him. I want to thank the student body for their cooperation and I hope the Carolina spirit continues to run high with Durwood," Minett commented. One observer has called his (Jones) cheering "the best I've seen since Kay Kyser." I know, but can he cook?

The Kid With the Broken Arm

It wouldn't seem that there's too much involved in the four-player swap between the Red Sox and White Sox, until you consider the left field fence at Fenway Park. It's only 315 feet away, which should make Don Lenhardt a 30-homer man. Since the Middle Tennessee game, Bill Wade has been the Vandy quarterback on every offensive play. The SEC's nearest answer to the one-man team... You should have seen little Gil Reese playing without a helmet for Vandy. He dived it," writes Editor Ed Field (Selma, Ala., Times-Journal) after the column about Hank Laurieella directing the blocking traffic.

Last week against Wrens, Wrightsville back Kelly Powell returned punts 85 and 65 yards for scores, passed 40 yards to set up another, and then discovered he'd had a broken arm since the second play. "That's All-American to me," says Coach Don Brennan. With two broken arms, All-Universer... Hank Ertman has gone home to Wisconsin. He wasn't getting rich in real estate... The Mayfair Club will throw a party for Ray Beck on Dec. 6. The Tech guard was a life guard there last summer.

One of the casualties in that Wyoming train wreck was Dr. Tony Ippolito, Purdue and Chicago Bears fullback from '37 through '43... Stuttgart, Ark., holds its annual world's championship duck-calling contest next week, and a past champ named Jake Gartner, saturating the sports writing world with duck calls and phonograph records of same. It makes a great parlor sport, if you live in a cave and have no neighbors... Selah.

FILMS SHOW NO FAVORITISM FOR MAROONS, SAYS MORTON

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Nov. 16—(P)—Mississippi State football Coach Arthur (Slick) Morton Friday answered criticism that his Maroons may have had the advantage of poor officiating to beat Memphis State Saturday, 27-20.

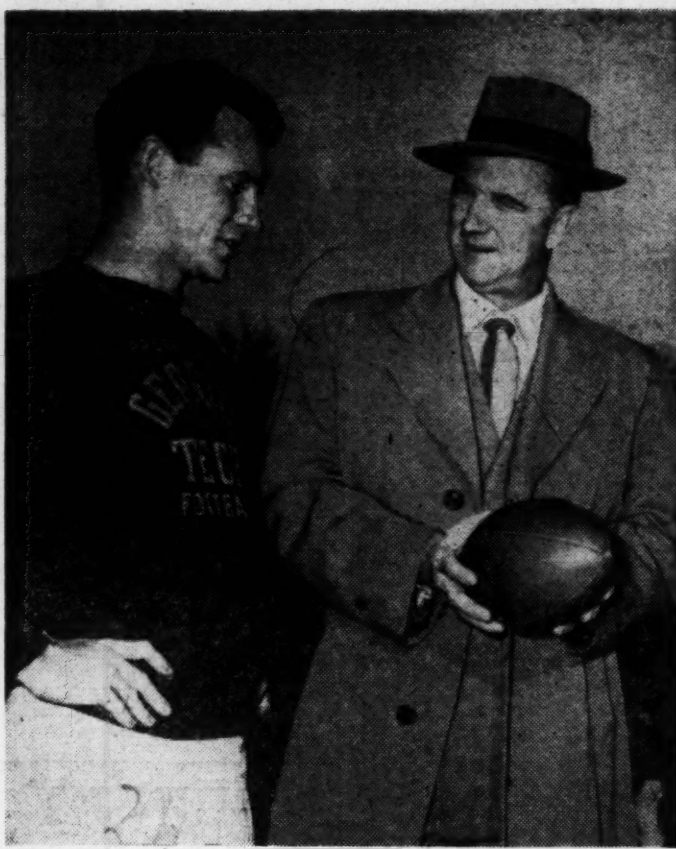

"After our coaching staff studied films of the game we can't see at any point where anyone could say that Jimmy Cole of Memphis State was within the end zone boundary when he caught the pass from Red Brewer," Morton said.

Memphis State was trailing, 21-20, when the play was called back. If allowed, it would have given Memphis a 26-21 lead, with only three minutes left. Mississippi State scored its other touchdown after intercepting a desperation Memphis pass.

Morton said, "from the angle in which pictures were taken it looks to us that by the time he gained possession his right foot was out of bounds."

"I definitely agree that the officials were out of position. However, this is no fault of theirs because mechanics of officiating places these men in a very difficult position to cover long passes and punts near the end of the playing field."

Morton said there was an instance when a Memphis punt went into the Mississippi end zone and bounced out, with officials giving State the ball on the two instead of the 20.

Irish Meet Grey Knights In City Finale

The City League high school football season will come to a close Saturday night at Grady Stadium as O'Keefe's champions put their unbeaten Region 3-AA status on the line against Grady High at 8 o'clock.

The Grey Knights, who need a victory to clinch a share of second place with Brown, will be playing their final game under Coach Spec Landrum, who will join the varsity staff at University of Georgia Monday.

Model will play at Pepperell in the only other game slated in the state.

GEORGIA VS. AUBURN

Did Wally Teach 'Shug' Too Well? Today Will Tell

COLUMBUS, Nov. 16—Ralph (Shug) Jordan, mastermind of Auburn's resurgents, steps out Saturday before 22,000 Memorial Stadium watchers and tries to show Georgia that Ballace Butts taught him too well.

This 55th renewal of Georgia-Auburn football—oldest rivalry in Dixie—is given the narrowest pre-kickoff appraisal of any of the last eight games. Georgia is a seven-point favorite for the 2 p. m. start. Not since 1941, when by the grace of Leo Costa's toe Georgia won, 14-13, has the conflict been touted as so close.

And the coach-pupil angle must reach back eight years for a carbon. That wasn't Georgia-Auburn. That year, 1943, Auburn did not field a team. Instead, Butts' Georgia and Bernie Moore's LSU met here. Moore, who had tutored Butts as an old Mercer end, beat his former protege, 27-6.

Butts never actually coached

Clemson, Furman Go Today

GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 16. Furman University's Purple Hurricane continues its old football feud with Clemson's Country Gentlemen Saturday afternoon, with the Furmans favored to lose by four touchdowns.

Around 20,000 fans are expected for the 39th meeting of the pair. Furman has not won since 1936, is behind 20 to 14 in the series, with five ties.

On the slight sophomore shoulders of a Fitzgerald, Ga., quarterback Gene (Kid), Pedrick, ride the Hurricanes slender chances of an upset. Pedrick's passes have been the dominant factor in a couple of surprises, 35-14 over The Citadel and a 19-19 knot with Georgia Washington. The Kid is the second-ranking passer in the Southern Conference.

Another Furman star, halfback Russell Sutton, leads the loop in rushing statistics. Balancing the book—and then some—on the other end is Clemson's Billy Hair, a multi-threat who paces the Southern in total offense.

Hernia Operation For Roy Mack

Ace Crawford Given Chance To Play Against Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 16—Unwhipped Georgia Tech, the persistent surprise of 1951 in the Southeastern Conference, faced the prospect of crashing into Alabama Saturday afternoon at Legion Field like a runaway locomotive without its engineer. But the prospect was brighter than it had been this week.

Darrell Crawford, the engineer, went through the motions in final workout at Rose Bowl Field in Atlanta late Friday afternoon, and appeared to acquit himself without handicap from the rib wound he suffered in the roughhouse match with VMI.

"We think now he's going to play, and probably we'll start him," Coach Bobby Dodd said. "But we didn't think so until we saw him work out. If he feels all right now, he can make it Saturday."

If Crawford hadn't come up ready for duty, the Engineers would have gone with freshman Bill Brigrum as the quarterback. This was tongue-tying news, in view of sophomore Pepper Rodgers' presence. But young Brigrum, a 165-pound stringbean of six feet, from Brunswick, Ga., by way of Baylor Prep in Chattanooga, has come fast.

Even he had had his troubles, though. This week he came down with such a sore throat that he could not speak, let alone call signals. This had cleared up by Friday, however, and though still a mite throaty, Kid Brigrum was ready to go, though he has missed two practice days.

He will still be a man of action Saturday, for healthy as Crawford may be, the senior ace will be spelled and Brigrum will be his relief. If there are any further revolting developments re Crawford, Brigrum will be called upon to start, which will throw him into the most critical spot a freshman has occupied at Tech since the late great Clint Castleberry was a first-team hoss in '42.

Clear but near freezing weather was indicated with a full house of 47,000 at the big Birmingham athletic plant. It would be the 23rd game between the two schools, 12 of which have gone to Tech, 17 to Alabama and three to ties.

There would be one other new starting development Saturday. Jeff Knox, the junior end from Hapeville, was nominated to start at offensive end. This would relieve Pete Ferris for more defensive duty, and defensive ends are important people when it comes to fighting off the give-or-keep tactics of split-T attacks.

Crawford has suffered all week from a rib cracked when blocked by an unidentified VMI player. He continued to play, but the injury became too painful for free action by Monday.

In Brigrum, the Engineers come out with a totally raw rookie. The young chap has appeared in varsity competition only a few minutes against VMI. His rapid development this fall brought him up from the freshman squad, though he quarterbacked the tenderfoot to their rousing victory over Auburn last Monday.

He will join a couple of other freshmen thoroughly established as Varsity people now, linebacker Larry Morris and halfback Larry Ruffin.

Tech, tied only by Duke, 14-14, and already in possession of an Orange Bowl contract, goes against an Alabama team four times beaten, but still as dangerous as a coiled rattler. Odds, serviced from Chicago's underground, pronounce the Crimson Tide a one-point favorite. One wire service reporter claims that "Tech should not

Carrollton Clips Roswell

CARROLLTON, Nov. 16—Carrollton High overpowered Roswell Green Hornets Friday night, 41-13, as Donnie Williams and Boyd Brannon turned series of long punts into touchdowns.

Williams galloped 17, 70 and 65 yards for his three tallies and Brannon ripped off 55 and 50 yards for his TD's. Rip Sewell supplied the sixth Carrollton marker. Jack Lackey and Earl Matthews were sparks in the Roswell offensive.

Late Marxist Rally Rips Bulldogs, 13-0

Bucky Smith Twists 64 Yards For Cadets' Clinching Tally

By BILL DIEHL

Shorty Doyal's Marxist Cadets pulled a tight one out of the fire in the third round Friday night and chopped down the North Fulton Bulldogs, 13-0, before 2,500 frigid fans.

Bryan G, 'Delight' 1-2 At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Nov. 16.—(P)—Bryan G., a second stringer from the Virginia stable of C. T. Chenery, played follow-the-leader with three rivals Friday and led all the way to grab an easy victory in the 15th running of the sporty Pimlico Special.

The chestnut 4-year-old son of Blenheim II—Anthemian, overshadowed by such stablemates as Hill Prince and Mangochick, never left any doubt about the result as pockey Ovie Seacock steered him home by five lengths over favored County Delight.

County Delight, from the Rokeby Stable of Paul Mellon and ridden by Eddie Arcaro seeking his fifth Pimlico Special victory, was 12 lengths ahead of the latter stand-up two and a quarter lengths ahead of the only other horse in the field, Mrs. E. Dupont Weir's Royal Governor.

Capitol was a late scratch, probably due to the fact all of the horses had to carry 126 pounds under the weight-for-age conditions. Ovie Seacock was the Butler last week with only 108.

There was win-only betting in the $15,000 winner take all affair, and those in the slim crowd of 11,973 who braved showers and a cool wind who liked Bryan G's chances, got back $5.80 for their $2.

Donchevsky Team Wins Pro-Ladies

Hank Donchevsky, assistant professional at North Fulton golf course, teamed with Mrs. Bill Hall, Mrs. W. D. Tumlin and Mary Louise Kravenbuhl to capture fire place in the Atlanta PGA-sponsored Pro Ladies' golf tournament Friday afternoon at Standard Town and Country Club. They posted a net score of 310.

Second place went to Harold Sargent, Mrs. Dave Warner, Mrs. C. D. Fields and Mrs. W. B. Smith with a score of 317.

Leo Beckman, Peggy Gude, Mary Lou Brown and Mrs. R. A. Corvey were a stroke back for third place.

Johnny Livingston, Mrs. C. E. Elsas, Mrs. S. M. Smith and Mrs. Louis Montag took low gross prize with a total of 356 strokes. Bill Barker of Capital City Country Club was low pro with 32-38—70, two under par for the course.

Yankees Lose Hurler Wiesler

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(P)—The New York Yankees Friday placed pitcher Bob Wiesler, a Kansas City grad, on the National League list after receiving word that his unit in Missouri had been called to active duty.

With Wiesler on the defense list, the Yankees now have only 39 players on their roster, one short of the limit. This would permit General Manager George Weiss to draft a player at the Cincinnati meetings Monday. If Weiss wished to draft more than one he would have to indicate to commissioner Ford Frick the names of additional Yankees to be dropped.

UNBEATEN SEASON

Green's 87-Yard Return Wins for Northside, 7-0

By GENE ASHER

Ed Green returned a punt 87 yards Friday night to give Northside High an unbeaten season in its first year of prep football.

Green grabbed a Bubba Scott boot midway in the opening quarter and eluded three tacklers on the touchdown run which enabled Wayman Creel's Northside.

ers to down Southwest DeKalb 7-0, at Southwest DeKalb field. It was the final game for both teams.

The victory was Northside's ninth in 10 starts. The Tigers were held to a 6-6 tie by College Park.

For Southwest DeKalb's Panthers, it was perhaps their best effort of the season. They held the Tigers to minus 10 yards rushing the first half and outgained the visitors on the ground, 177-63.

Linebacker Foxy Strayhorn and tackle Porky Taylor were defensive stalwarts of the Panthers' line, which caused Northside to lose 28 yards on three consecutive plays in the second quarter.

DeKalb's pass defense was almost impregnable as it prevented ace pitcher Frank Troutman from completing a pass and was caught napping only once in eight aerial attempts. Scott and "Big Un" Hol-

Climaxing the sudden spurt of Marxist power, halfback Bucky Smith put Bulldog rosters farther into the deep freeze with a 64-yard, straight-through-the-center-TD run.

The first two sessions and the final heat was nip-and-tuck, with the Bulldogs often doing the nipping.

Gene Gunn shattered the ice five minutes into the third quarter when he slashed off tackle and powered in from the three. End Ed White started things rolling seven plays before when he ripped into the secondary as Bulldog Moulson tried to kick from his own 28, and dropped the big booting tackle cold.

Two plays later, the Cadets light weight champion, Jackie Cotter, got his passing arm in trim and dropped a 20-yard toss into the waiting arms of Jack Stapp on the 5. Gordon Azar bulled to the 3 and Gunn did the honors. Kane's made it 7-0.

A few minutes later, after North Fulton faltered the kick-off and booted out of trouble, the Cadets uncorked Smith and his dashed things up in pretty blue ribbon for the Cadets. He cut loose from his own 35, wallowed through the line and streaked to the pay window with unhappy Red Dogs behind him all the way.

Kane's boot dropped wide and Marxist stood ahead, 13-0. The spunky dog, aimed all the way but quarterback Joe Delaney's seven fourth-quarter pass tries died with only one completion. The gun ended the final scoring attempt on the 20, as the fans hustled home for a hot toddy and the fireplace.

Jonesboro Rally Raps Hartwell

By JACK MCLELLAN

Hartwell threw a scare into Jonesboro in the first half by taking a 6-0 lead, but the Cardinals came back to overpower the Bulldogs, 25-6, at Jonesboro Friday night.

Hartwell received the opening kickoff and marched 80 yards for six first downs to send right half.

Bowers over center for their lone tally. The try for conversion failed and the Bulldogs led 6-0.

They kicked off and allowed the Cardinals exactly three plays the first period and played the leading role throughout the entire first half, allowing Jonesboro to venture only as far as their 30. Halfback George Taylor, displaying some hard and speedy running picked up 118 yards from scrimmage and played a large part in giving the Bulldogs 10 first downs the first half.

W. S. Kirksey, Mercer-bred coach of the Cardinals, evidently let his charges in on a deep secret during the halftime period, because they came back to take complete charge after the first half of the third period.

Led by the fine passing of quarterback Swygert and the hard driving of fullback "Big Man" Garner, the Cardinals struck late in the third period with a 32-yard pass from Swygert to end Joe Huie, who shook off two tacklers and streaked to paydirt on a play that covered 86 yards.

Striking hard and fast, the Cardinals accounted for three touchdowns in the last three minutes of the game. "Big Man" Garner skirted left end for eight yards and E. Blalock skirted left end for the extra point. After allowing the Bulldogs three plays, halfback Moss broke over left tackle on a quick opener for 38 yards, to carry to the Bulldog eight, where Eugene Blalock went over center to score. The kickoff by Garner was fumbled by end Norris, and Jonesboro recovered to take command again with one minute of play remaining. Henderson went over left tackle for the final tally.

Left half Sammy Hall of Hartwell was shaken up when he ran into the iron yardstick while making a tackle, but was not seriously injured.

Sudan Plebescite Urged by Egypt

Ask UN-Supervised Vote
With All Troops Withdrawn

PARIS, Nov. 16.—(U.P.)—Egypt Friday offered to submit the future status of the Sudan to a plebiscite conducted by the United Nations on condition that the British as well as Egyptian armed forces and officials be withdrawn from that territory during the vote. This proposal was made before the United Nations General Assembly as a "challenge" to the British by Mohamed Salah El Din, Egyptian foreign minister. He was one of the last speakers in the assembly's general debate.

His offer followed Thursday's statement by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in the House of Commons that self-government in the Sudan may be granted by the end of next year. Egypt recently repudiated the Anglo-Egyptian agreement for joint rule of that region on the upper Nile and claimed that the Sudan came under the Egyptian crown.

In a recent message to the United Nations the 12 Sudanese members of the British-sponsored constitutional commission seeking to formulate an organic law for the Sudan appealed for a United Nations commission to help guide the region toward self-government. In explaining Friday's Egyptian proposal the spokesman said it likewise envisaged a commission such as that in neighboring Libya.

DUE FOR INDEPENDENCE
That former Italian colony is due for independence on Jan. 1 after drawing up a constitution and setting up a National Assembly and central government under the guidance of the United Nations commissioner. The latter, Adrian Pelt, was supported by an advisory council consisting of representatives of six members of the United Nations, delegates from the three regions of Libya, and one representative of the Libyan minorities.

The British delegation here declined to comment on the Egyptian proposal. El Din himself said he was "more than sure" that the British would not take up his challenge.

During the final day of general debate several smaller nations asked the great powers to conciliate their difference or agree to high-level talks here in Paris. Carlos Romulo of the Philippines urged a "moratorium on recrimination."

"What the world would like to see," he continued, "is an honest and sincere effort to get down to brass tacks, for the representatives of the great powers to get together and apply themselves to the workmanlike task of securing all mankind from the unimaginable horrors of an atomic war."

BURMA ALARMED
U. Myint Thun of Burma said his delegation was "impressed by the flights of oratory but alarmed by the vehemence and intolerance of the great powers." He said he was "bewildered" in trying to assess what proposals were sincere and what were mere propaganda.

"If it is possible for the former deadly enemies of the Second World War to become friends once more," the Burmese asked, "is it too much to hope that the former allies will also be able to do the same?"

Faiz El Khouri of Syria flatly predicted the failure of the arms census plan submitted by Britain, France and the United States. This proposal and the counter proposal of the Soviet Union were neither of them new to the United Nations, he said. "They have been presented and debated several times," he added.

"This is a case which necessitates their meeting together to discuss their respective views in private, away from propaganda platforms," the Syrian said. He asserted that the big powers were bound to meet and iron out their differences by the assembly's resumption, adopted unanimously at the last session.

Youths Urged To Join Guard

Gov. Talmadge Friday appealed to young men of Georgia to join the Georgia National Guard upon reaching their 17th birthday. In a special proclamation, the governor pointed out that guardsmen "meet their obligation of service to their country, while at the same time they continue their education or employment." He said that guard enlistees "could not be drafted from their units for active federal service so long as they continue to serve satisfactorily."

Talmadge directed Adj. Gen. Ernest Vandiver to maintain a current list of organized units of the guard which have not reached authorized strength.

Gun Battle Flares at Port Said

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 16.—(U.P.)—Egyptian terrorists, expanding their efforts to drive the British out of the Suez Canal Zone, staged a gun battle Thursday night with British troops in the streets of Port Said.

Reports of this latest armed clash, reaching Cairo Friday said two British troopers and four Egyptians were wounded.

News of the incident was received here as Egyptian Socialist Leader Jusuin demanded that Egypt sever diplomatic relations with Britain unless the British are withdrawn from the canal zone.

In a virtual ultimatum to the Wafdist government, Hussein said Egypt must act within 15 days or his Socialist Party will open an active opposition movement. He demanded that the government warn the British to get out within one month or Egypt will break diplomatic and commercial relations.

Hussein also urged the government to prepare its troops for battle with the British and recommended, if necessary, that all Egyptians be permitted to carry arms.

He also called for treaties of friendship between Egypt and the Eastern bloc of Communist countries if Britain refuses to leave the disputed area.

His militant demands and the report of the new clash in the canal zone brought widespread reaction.

Moslem leaders, for the second successive Moslem Sabbath, asked Egypt's 3,000,000 Mohammedans to declare a holy war against the British.

British official military reports said the Port Said incident occurred when two British non-commissioned officers wandered into the city's Arab quarter. They were attacked by an Egyptian mob.

Rails' Mail-Carrying Rates Hiked 32 Per Cent by ICC

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(U.P.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission Friday granted the nation's railroads a 32 per cent increase in mail carrying rates.

The new rates, which will not directly affect the public immediately at least will increase railroad mail carrying revenues to about $311,532,000 a year, compared with 1950 mail income of about $236,643,000.

The extra money will come out of post office revenues. The department already is operating under an estimated deficit of $500,000,000 a year and has been trying to reduce it.

In anticipation of Friday ICC order, Congress recently increased second and third class postal rates and abolished the penny postcard to produce an estimated $117,416,000 a year in new postal revenues.

Under the Congressional action, the penny postcard will cost two cents after Dec. 31. Other hikes were voted for special delivery letters and other "special services" offered by the post office.

Fire Sweeps House, Spreads Next Door

Fire Friday severely damaged a Negro house at 98 Mason Ave., N. E., and spread to the roof next door at 94 Mason Ave., P. E. F. Jackson and R. L. Peacock said.

Julius Sternick was listed as the occupant at 98 Mason Ave. Patrolmen said cause of the fire was not determined.

Enemy Casualties Put at 1,457,466

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(U.P.)—The Army Friday estimated total enemy casualties in Korea through Nov. 6 at 1,457,466, an increase of 14,622 since the previous week. Enemy battle casualties were estimated at 1,050,770 and non-battle losses at 237,724. Counted prisoners of war totaled 168,972.

"Life With Father" had the longest run of any play in New York City with 3,213 performances.

AERIAL VIEW OF WRECK KILLING TWO—NAHUNTA, Nov. 16—This is how the wreckage of a crack Atlantic Coast Line passenger train, the Havana Special, looked after it sideswiped a freight train which had attempted to pull into a siding near here Thursday night. Two persons, one of them station agent James Strickland, were killed, and 23 others were injured.

Wife Slayer Gets Life At Gainesville

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 16.—(U.P.)—Paul Satterfield, whose wife told him to "go kill yourself outside" was convicted Friday of first degree murder in the slaying of his spouse.

Judge H. R. Edmundson sentenced Satterfield to life in prison after a Hall superior court jury returned the verdict with a recommendation of mercy.

Witnesses at the textile worker's trial testified that he threatened to kill himself and his wife gave this answer: "Don't kill yourself here. We're expecting company. Go kill yourself outside."

It was then that Satterfield "let her have it," the witnesses said. Satterfield then attempted to take his own life but survived the shotgun wound.

Attorney B. Frank Whelchel based Satterfield's defense on temporary insanity. He argued that Mrs. Satterfield and their 16-year-old daughter, Gaynelle, drove him "to a point where his mind could not distinguish between right and wrong."

No plans for an appeal were announced.

Wrong Defendant Once, But Luck Can Change

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 16.—(U.P.)—Frank Lee Garner, 22, stood up in city court Friday and heard five witnesses accuse him of reckless driving. After all had testified the court decided an error had been made. Wrong defendant. Judge Carl Stokes quickly marched an officer off to get the right defendant.

Garner came back later, however, on a different traffic violation.

RICHER BY $1 Small Fry Eye Suspect

A 38-year-old paroled convict from California Friday admitted to a third floor cell at City Jail—that Atlanta citizens match in perseverance the city's traditional fame for hospitality.

The paroled convict, George Miller Hershey, alias, Clemen, arrived in Atlanta Friday and rented a room on Moreland Ave., N. E. After dark, Dets. W. E. Petty and H. F. Brown related, Miller walked a few doors down the street and broke into a house at 560 Moreland Ave., N. E.

Misses Margaret Roberts and Hazel Achenbacher, the occupants, drove up just as Hershey climbed through a front window. Hershey fled. Miss Roberts ran inside to call police, while Miss Achenbacher was in the car to follow the suspect.

Hershey turned in at a Little Five Points restaurant. Miss Achenbacher stopped two small boys on the street, gave them $1 and asked them to watch the suspect while she went for police.

When officers arrived, they found the small boys sitting at a table with Hershey, staring at him. "Well, she told us to watch him," they chorused.

Hershey, who said he was released recently in California after serving three years of a 15-year sentence for burglary was booked at City Jail for suspicion of burglary.

Auto Hike Okay Seen in 10 Days

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(U.P.)—Government officials Friday said higher prices for new autos will be authorized within the next 10 days but all firms may not put them into effect immediately.

The Office of Price Stabilization will issue sometime the last week of November a new regulation allowing car makers adjustments for higher costs by conversion steel and other price changes provided by the so-called Capehart amendment.

The Capehart amendment in the new price-wage controls law requires O.P.S. to reflect all materials, labor and overhead costs through last July 26 in computing manufacturers' price ceilings.

Enemy Casualties Put at 1,457,466

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(U.P.)—The Army Friday estimated total enemy casualties in Korea through Nov. 6 at 1,457,466, an increase of 14,622 since the previous week. Enemy battle casualties were estimated at 1,050,770 and non-battle losses at 237,724. Counted prisoners of war totaled 168,972.

"Life With Father" had the longest run of any play in New York City with 3,213 performances.

Warren Calls For Liberal GOP Platform

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 16.—(U.P.)—Republican Governor Earl Warren opened his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination with a speech Friday night assailing what he termed dishonesty in the Democratic administration and pleading for a liberal GOP platform.

The ailing California governor, hospitalized just a day after announcing his candidacy, declared in a transcribed address: "We must clean out the chisel, the favoritism and the dishonesty that are shocking the public today."

At the same time, he warned his own party not to stand still. "We never could and never should try to satisfy the extremists on either end because neither of them wants to see real progress made," he said.

Backing a bipartisan foreign policy, he spoke out, as he has before, against American isolationism. This country, he said, should help its friends in the free world to defend themselves against possible aggression.

Warren's speech was broadcast to the Republican State Central Committee meeting here and carried nationally. Doctor's orders Friday forced him to cancel plans to deliver the address himself. He is suffering from an intestinal disturbance.

The 1948 GOP nominee for vice-president, openly opposed by dissident Republicans in his home state, renewed his appeal for party unity.

"Our forces must not be divided by our own actions," he said, "only to be destroyed by our opposition."

Party leaders, most of whom are pledged to Warren, have sought to avert a public clash with a conservative faction at the state meeting. The anti-Warren group is planning to enter its own ticket of national convention delegates in the California primaries next June.

GOP Glad Fair Deal to Remain Issue

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(U.P.)—Republican leaders said Friday they are delighted with President Truman's promise that his "Fair Deal" program will be included in the 1952 Democratic platform.

The GOP spokesmen figured it will help them spotlight their charge that the Truman program is the road to socialism, which they plan as one of the big issues of next year's presidential election campaign.

They also hoped it will help their drive for Republican votes in the traditionally Democratic Solid South, where some leading Democrats likewise have raised the socialism charge against the Truman Administration.

President Truman told a news conference at his Key West, Fla., vacation retreat Thursday his "Fair Deal" program will be in the Democratic platform—no matter who the presidential candidate may be.

The Republican reaction was summed up by GOP National Chairman Guy G. Gabrielson, now touring the South on behalf of his Dixie drive, in response to questions addressed to his Washington headquarters.

ACCIDENTS

Housewife Is Victim of Hit-and-Run

Mrs. Ethel Holliday, 34-year-old housewife of 307 Erin St., S. W., Friday was struck down on Georgia Avenue, near Capitol Ave., by a hit-and-run auto occupied by three Negroes, police said.

She was treated at Grady Hospital for injuries to the face, head and shoulders.

P. C. T. Dopson and S. B. Powell said Mrs. Holliday got out of a parked car and walked around into the street, where she was struck down. They said the driver of the 1937 model, green Plymouth would have faced only a technical charge if he had stopped since Mrs. Holliday was crossing the street 75 feet from the intersection.

In other accidents, three youths were slightly injured playing football and basketball.

James C. Garner Jr., 14, of 50 Whiteford Ave., N. E., was injured playing football at Murphy High School; Carl William Henderson, 13, of 382 Kelly St., S. E., was injured playing football at Ed S. Cook School; and Norman M. LeGallienne, 13, of 106 Woodward Ave., S. E., got a nose injury while playing basketball at Hoke Smith School.

Struck by a car at Magnolia and Marietta streets, N. W., Viola Shield, 25, Negro, of 1051 Collier Rd., N. W., was treated at Grady for injuries to the right hip and arm.

A. H. Campbell said the driver, Robert W. Bridges, 45, of 94 Atlanta Ave., S. E., was booked for violating pedestrian rights.

Roger G. Jarrett, 21-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jarrett, 1096 Delaware Ave., S. E., was hospitalized after swallowing roach poison.

Hapeville Status to Wait Until Plan Is in Effect

By JOHN KISER
A group of Hapeville citizens Friday night heard three sides to the question of annexation to Atlanta and the majority indicated the matter is something to be investigated but, as one citizen said, "let us wait until we see how the Plan of Improvement turns out."

Mayor Rex T. Reeves presented the argument for Hapeville remaining as is; Phil Edmondson of East Point, stated the case for a tri-city union of College Park, East Point and Hapeville, and Clint McLucas argued the case for annexation. The Hapeville Exchange Club sponsored the meeting.

McLucas said Hapeville would still be Hapeville if it merged with Atlanta. He pointed to promises made to West End when it was annexed that have since been "carried out to the letter." McLucas said Atlanta taxes might be higher in some instances but that the advantages gained would more than make up for the difference.

Edmondson said if the three municipalities were gathered under one government "it would be a safeguard against being swallowed up by the city of Atlanta."

The Rev. John D. Sumner, Hapeville civic leader, said from the floor "Atlanta has already bitten off more than she can chew."

"I am willing to discuss the matter in five years or so after Atlanta is ready again to annex more territory," he added.

After the Rev. Mr. Sumner's statement, Mayor E. J. Bass of East Point, a member of the round table panel, said Atlanta is "either going broke or is going to have to double its present tax rate or stop furnishing city services to outlying areas."

Morris L. Thrallikill presided at the discussion. Other members of the panel were J. Adair McCord, John G. Lewis, Dr. L. M. Hewitt, M. T. McClellan, Orville Parker and J. D. Bazemore.

Power Lapses In Part of City
A section of Druid Hills and Emory University was plunged into darkness for approximately 45 minutes Friday night when a tree limb fell on electric wires on Dyson Drive, N. E., Georgia Power Company officials said.

One circuit serving approximately a half-dozen streets were knocked out, officials said. They added the incident occurred at 10:45 p. m. and service was restored by 11:30 p. m.

Playthings to love, to joke with, and to learn

LIKE TEDDY BEAR

Some Toys Never Die—
They Just Go From One Generation to the Next

By MARTHA SMITH
Some toys are ageless.
It's true youngsters grow up and outgrow the most classic playthings but as fast as this happens, new generations appear and swear allegiance to the same old favorites.
Good example of the eternal toy is the teddy bear. No matter what kind of clothes he wears, if any, or what size he is, the good old bright-eyed, button-nosed bear leads the toy parade. This enlightens the toy-makers can even create a teddy bear so dirt-resistant that it's safe for play with little ones who have dust allergies.

Toys should always be selected with an eye to mental and physical age of a child.
Rattles and rings in simple shapes and small sizes are good bets for infants. By one year, babies are ready for differentfied toys, especially toys that FEEL different. Between two and three years old, interest in the combinations of toys increases. Now is the time for block-sets, simple dolls, stuffed animals. Choose toys for all these ages with regard to the notion that they'll be tasted as well as smelled and touched.
From three years to six is the opening of a new play life for any child. Costumes are in great demand, dress-up play of all types, tea sets, tool sets, skates, rolling toys of any kind,
drawing materials, simple painting equipment, and here appears the first glimmers of group play ideas.
From six until 10 it almost seems as if the sky's the limit.

Parents Going Back to School

Parents of College Park High School students will go back to school Monday for "Parents' day." Reporting to home rooms with their daughters or sons at 8:45 a. m., they will attend classes and have lunch in the school cafeteria. At 12:45 p. m.
they will meet in the school auditorium for a discussion,
"Observation of the Child in School," led by O. L. Wooten, principal of Campbell High School.

The program was planned by Mrs. E. R. Crove of College Park High School, and Mrs. Milner Adams of College Park High Parent-Teacher Association.

MARY
HAWORTH

War Bride's Friend Back Home
Wants To Come to America Too

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I came to this country three years ago from France to marry a boy I met during the war. We are happy and I am thankful for everything I have.
I need your advice about my best girl friend, Denise, who is 24.
I get many pleasant letters from her, and enjoy telling her how my "dreams came true." Because of my enthusiastic letters, she wants to come and live her life here.

I don't know if I should encourage Denise to come here. Life isn't easy for young people in France; but it isn't easier here. Denise doesn't speak any English and I don't think she will be able to do anything here besides get married. I know she can be a wonderful wife to some man here, because she is raised to be one. But in France she has a good family, a fine mother and a nice way of living. She works, but may spend her money as she likes; and in her social life she meets lots of people—and lots of boys, with opportunity to find the right one.

Should I let her come, and help her as I can? Or tell her she takes too much chance of being unhappy here? My husband says she is old enough to be responsible for herself; and she can always go back. But it seems a lot of money to spend on an uncertainty.
It is difficult for me to explain to her that the way-of-life is different; and she may find it harder here. I haven't heard any of my friends say yet it is good for her to come. What is your advice?

S. V.
DEAR S. V.: For advice to Denise, your references indicate that she is protected and dependent upon her parents; hence probably socially immature of her age. If so, she is not a good risk in a far country, where the peoples and modes are alien to her sheltered experience; and where she would lack parental guidance.

Your husband's theory that Denise is old enough to be responsible for herself is typical of the attitude she would encounter amongst local competitors for jobs and husbands. Thus she would need exceptional courage and self reliance to carry her through in trying to make a place for herself.

What Denise cannot do for herself, you cannot do for her; so don't encourage her to cross the ocean as your charge. Write her an earnest letter, explaining that marriage to Paul is the keystone of your security and contentment here; and say that, in your opinion, she ought not to uproot herself, unless and until Providence takes her by the hands, as happened to you.

M. H.
Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Atlanta Constitution.

How It Started

When the spinning wheel came into general use, custom decreed that girls spin their trousseaux before marrying.
Spinning maidens were called spinners—a name for unmarried women that survives to this day.

sistant.

Atlantans Are Home
From Pennsylvania
Hunting Party

By ANNIE LOU HARDY

Mr. and Mrs. James White and Mr. and Mrs. John Grant Jr. are just back from Ligonier, Pa., where they were members of a hunting party as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mellon. They were quartered at the Rolling Rock Club, which Mr. Mellon's father, the late Andrew Mellon, started to accommodate guests on his 24,000-acre hunting preserve.

Others in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tift, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hodges and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wetherby, all of Albany, and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Robert, who joined the group in Washington.

The Georgians met the Mellons at Albany, where the latter own a beautiful farm which they have named Pineland. After their arrival at Ligonier on Monday
the group were guests
for dinner at the Mellon home there.
Following were three glorious days
of hunting
duck and pheasant, though the preserve is also well stocked with deer, fox and quail.

He will read from his volume of poems, "Never the Nightingale."
Afterwards a reception will be held in his honor.
The November issue of Cosmopolitan carries Mr. Hicky's latest poem, "O Swift Withdrawing Tide" which he wrote during a visit to Sea Island.

the former's son and daughter,
Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Renfro.
They were joined there by Mr.
and Mrs. Herman Snipes of Knoxville, Tenn.

MRS. TOM ROPER sailed
Wednesday from New York on the S. S. America for England, where she will join Lieutenant Roper, U. S. Air Corps, who is stationed at Shaftsbury, near Southampton. Awaiting Mrs.
Roper is a charming old house that boasts a thatched roof and three bedrooms with a fireplace in each room, which Lieutenant Roper has rented.

Temper Workout?

If you are the type who likes

Trim the Space Between Waist
And Wishbone

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Fashion in figures is back to lovely normal. According to Paris, New York and Hollywood, the accent is on milady's real form.

Hips are normal, and the bust is normal... a beautiful normal
if you see what the designers mean. While there is less accent on the waistline, it must always be small. The news is the spare-ribbed look... a molded close-to-the-form look in that snug but important space twist waist and wishbone. In other words, there must be no slight suspicion of a girdle top roll.

The designers use sleight of hand tricks to turn substance into shadow, but a girdle top roll is just more than they can cope with this season.

Well, zippity-do-da... let's take it off. To make it fun instead of a workout, put rhythm in the movements. Make up your own hit parade, but see that the rhythm and the movement hit the right spot. Here is a routine to banish the bulk lodged amidships.

Stand erect, feet well apart, arms arched overhead. Now
lunge to the right side, bending right knee. Fling right arm across in front of chest, bend to the right, and stretch and pull from left finger tips to left toes.
make it a long, smooth, wonderful stretch. Reverse position, bend the left knee, and pull smoothly along the opposite side.

Now for those with normally strong backs, try a quarter twist at the waist, followed by bending. Arc arms overhead, pull the waist up away from the hips
... pull ribs up out of the waist.
Twist gently at the waist to the right, but only a quarter of the way around. Holding the up-pull and the quarter twist, execute a slight side-back bend.
See where this puts the pull?
Smack through that girdle top bulge! Straighten up, twist gently at the waist to the left, and execute a slight side-back bend, again through the bulge.

To get at the fire above the waist in back, the turn at the waist should be the same, a quarter turn, but the bend is forward and to the side. First one side, then the other.

Finish by flopping over at waist, letting knees go limp and rhythmically swing from side to side

ROUND THE HOME

Meat Problem to Chefs Now; They Season Well With Imagination

By AGNES REASOR OLMSTEAD

Eating away from home is as much fun for a food editor as for any other woman. While there was much to do in New York and sessions of the Grocery Manufacturers of America convention to attend, I must confess it was with great interest that I looked forward to mealtime.

CHEFS ARE HAVING the same meat problems we home-makers are. High prices are forcing them to serve hashes and steaks even at dinner parties. At one of the formal dinner parties for the women, beef stew in red wine was served on spatzel (or spaetzle as some say). It was a very delicious dish and all of us asked for the recipe. Along with this were served salad bowls of cooked vegetables arranged like bouquets. In the center of each was a whole head of snow cooked cauliflower surrounded with lettuce cups holding peas, carrots, string beans and onions. Each vegetable was so perfectly cooked that the color was almost as vivid as the fresh. A horseradish French dressing accompanied the salad. Instead of rolls, finger-sized bread-and-butter sandwiches were served. The chef showed good sense in ending this dinner with diced fresh fruit in orange juice along with layered petit fours filled with almond paste.

Here is a home-sized tested recipe for spatzel:

SPATZEN
2 eggs
1 1/2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
Beat eggs. Combine them with other ingredients and beat well. Drop small bits of batter from spoon into simmering, salted water. Simmer until tender. Drain well, and, if desired, sprinkle with chopped parsley. Serve either as a base for stew or as an accompaniment. Makes four servings.

PHILIPPE OF THE WALDORF said in an interview that his staff is developing "imaginative dishes" using the less-demanded meat cuts and the less-tender cuts that require special cooking and seasoning. In bold type the Waldorf features concoctions of tongue, brains, kidney, frankfurters, as well as meat soups, meat pies, stews and casseroles, all of which extend meat because it can be combined with other foods. Many of these carry fancy names but waiters are especially coached to explain them to you. (Why not try some new recipe names on your family?)

Breakfast with an editor of the Ladies Home Journal was served at a table overlooking the East river. Icy cold orange segments in fruit juice preceded a plate of herb scrambled eggs, Canadian bacon, and a croûton filled baked tomato. Tiny biscuits with red raspberry preserves helped to ward off hunger until noon.

At some of the other parties we were introduced to smoked peanuts, garlic olives and pastel chocolates. These "chocolates" are made by a French candy house. They have all the properties of conventional chocolates except for color. White chocolates are a bit of a shock but then so are the delicately tinted green, yellow and pink ones—delicious as they are.

Reading May Take Time

By GLADYS BEVANS

"I am in a quandary," begins a letter. "My little boy is 7½, and the teacher says he has a high IQ and excels in every study except reading. She suggests that he have lessons in remedial reading, but I do not know just what to do about this."

From the rest of the letter, I gather that this young boy goes to public school. If he needs remedial reading lessons, it seems logical that the principal and the child guidance bureau should direct this mother to the special classes in which her son can receive the needed help, and not leave her suspended in mid-air like this.

Certainly a child who is utterly confused and making no progress in reading needs something, but if he is simply slow in learning this particular skill, all he may need is time—I mean more time than others in his class. I understand the difficulties this creates, but this fact remains, namely, that:

Even the most intelligent children are not all early readers, but 7 does seem to be a sort of milestone in acquiring this skill. A teacher goes on with the steps toward achievement from day to day, and many of the children struggle from day to day, and often both grow a little discouraged.

It often looks as if not much has been registered. I know, for I have taught reading. Then suddenly it all clicks. Everything that has been presented seems to fall into place, and as if it were a spontaneous thing the child begins to read. With some children this sudden perception comes earlier, with others later. We need to do some waiting. Also we need to do be sure that a child's sight and hearing have been adequately checked.

The above statement is not meant to refute the fact that some children need the help of a teacher trained in dealing with reading difficulties, but it is a suggestion that parents, and teachers, too, be not easily discouraged, and avoid discouraging the child.

Why Is Girl Loath to Have Boy Meet Parents?

By SHEILA JOHN DALY

Most girls like to think that the fellows they date are neat, sweet and nice enough to meet the family. But not this girl in question, who seems to be trying to keep her beau boy and her folks as far apart as possible. It has him worried, and this is how he tells his woeful tale:

"For some reason that I can't quite figure out, the girl I go out with doesn't seem to want me to meet her family. I've seen her parents at several school affairs with her and they look like nice people. We've been going together now for about two months, but so far the girl always has arranged to meet me away from home, giving a different excuse each time. 'I'm beginning to feel just a little silly, as if the girl were ashamed to introduce me to her folks. Yet she seems to like me more than the other boys she goes out with, and says that she'd like to go steady with me in another month or so. I don't know what to make of the situation. I don't like the sneaky feeling I get when I have to meet her, instead of going to pick her up the way I've been taught to do."

Some girls think that all fellows are shrinking violet characters who would rather walk around the block on their hands than face the so-called ordeal of meeting dates' parents. Perhaps your girl thinks she's doing you a favor by sparing you the sometimes embarrassing er-ling and ah-ing of an introduction to the family. Other girls are self-conscious about homes that they believe are not up to the standards of their friends or about parents who, they think, "just don't understand" them. That may be the reason for your date's meeting you on the street corners or in front of movie theaters. Or there's just a chance that her parents don't approve of her dating, and she's sneaking out to meet you.

Whatever the reason, explain to the girl that you don't feel right about dating her without meeting her folks, and ask to pick her up at home on the next big evening. She may then confess why she's been keeping you away and, knowing you understand her problem, she perhaps won't be so reluctant to have you visit the home and hearthside. Let her know you want to meet her folks—and she'll know you're the kind of fellow she wants her folks to meet!

New Trick For Serving Spaghetti

Those who list spaghetti as one of their favorites will like this new recipe. The cubes of meat and the slivered almonds provide good texture contrast. This almond flavored spaghetti dish would be ideal for a buffet supper or chafing dish service.

SPAGHETTI WITH ALMONDS

- 1 pound round steak, cut into 1 1/2 inch cubes
  - 3 tablespoons drippings
  - 1 cup broken spaghetti, uncooked
  - 1 8 ounce can tomato sauce
  - 1 1/2 cups water
  - 1 small onion, chopped fine
  - 1 teaspoon pepper
  - 1/4 pound American cheese, grated
  - 1 cup almonds, slivered
- Brown meat on all sides in hot drippings. Add spaghetti, tomato sauce, water, onion, and seasonings. Bring to boiling point. Cover pan and simmer for 15 minutes. Place half of mixture in a buttered casserole. Top with half of cheese and almonds and repeat. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Your Stars Today

Sun in Scorpio
General Tendencies—Some people will think this to be one of the poor days of the year, what with the delays, sudden changes and lack of money which seems prevalent on all sides. On the other hand, the people who run taverns or restaurants, likewise those gentlemen politely called "bookies" will find this a very agreeable and successful period—wonder why! On the whole persons born in July will be very sensitive to the moods of today and may even find some pleasure in travel or visits. But be careful if your birthday comes in January.

If It's Your Birthday—Look, you people born on this date in previous years, try to avoid changes in business or remodeling of your house for the next two months. Stay out of all speculations also, even when excellent tips may be handed to you by people in whose judgment you have great faith. Your best chance for success in 1952 will come by the nose-to-the-grindstone method rather than by a hurrah-boy's attitude. Be careful during the first half your attention toward spring of December, 1951. Then turn 1952 and swear to economize.

Rails Lead Light Trade On Market

New York Times News Service
Special To The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The Stock Market encountered considerable difficulty Friday in keeping to an even keel. Without the benefit of late bidding in the railroad division, the list would have leaned heavily to the lower side. The support supplied by the carriers enabled the market to shave its extreme loss, as measured by the combined averages of the New York Times, to a net intraday of 0.23 point.

Despite the activity in the final hour, business on the Stock Exchange diminished to the lightest since Nov. 5, with transfers limited to 1,140,000 shares, against 1,200,000 shares Thursday. It was a strange mixture of prices at the close and, while emphasis still remained on the lower level only a few scattered issues registered declines of more than a point.

In the narrowest trading in almost two weeks, 439 of the 1,065 individual stocks traded showed decreases and 349 advanced. The day's performance fitted in with the pattern prevalent during the past three weeks during which the share list has swung up and down with no definite trend established.

New York Central, most active among the rails on a turnover of 9,300 shares, was ahead 1/4 point at 17 1/2. Northern Pacific and Atlantic Coast Line were both raised 1 1/2 points while Santa Fe showed a rise of 2 points.

Several of the oils managed to recoup their losses, among them Standard Oil of New Jersey which ended unchanged with a similar situation in Standard Oil of Ohio which led the list in business on 25,600 shares. Mixed quotations were posted for the steels after moderate declines. United States Steel showed no alteration from the previous close, Republic was up 1/4 point with just the reverse for Bethlehem.

Chrysler was off 1/4 point at 68 but General Motors had a slight lift of 1/4 at 47 1/2. Consolidated Edison closed at a new high of 32 1/4, a gain of 1/4 point. American Telephone was up 1/4 point at 157. Firestone, softest of the rubbers, retreated 1 1/2 points.

Blumer Moved By Glass Firm

James W. Blumer, for the past three years a field representative in the Atlanta distributor division for Libby-Owens-Ford Glass Co., has been transferred to the home office of the company in Toledo, Ohio.

He is now assistant to J. M. Johns, general manager of the industrial department.

George N. Spaulding, formerly a distributor field representative of the company at Cleveland, Ohio, has been transferred to Atlanta to replace Blumer.

Coffee Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Coffee futures were steady Friday on the New York market. The market was quiet, with only a few contracts traded. The price of coffee futures was steady at 13 1/2 cents per pound.

See More Georgia Stations In TV License Freeze List

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Georgia, which now has only three television stations, may get more after the Federal Communications Commission removes its freeze on TV licenses, perhaps Feb. 1.

Since the freeze went into effect in the fall of 1948, the commission has had the job of making new assignments of available channels. This work is nearing an end. If the freeze is removed Feb. 1, the commission plans to allow 60 days or until April 1, for new applications so that all may have an equal chance at the available channels.

Numerous delays are likely before any new stations actually get into operation. In cases of rival applications from the same area, the commission will have to conduct hearings to determine its choice.

COST ISSUE
There is the matter of cost. Stations cost anywhere from $250,000 to $500,000. Operating costs often amount to $100,000 a year or more. Many communities are not able to support a station.

But some may be allocated channels for future use. Already, the commission has designated tentative channels for thousands of communities.

The proposed new channel assignments take into consideration present and future needs with an estimated 2,000 TV outlets available from the very high frequency (VHF) and ultra high frequency (UHF) channels numbered 13 or less are VHF. Present sets are so numerous. Those channels over 13 are UHF.

The three stations now operating in Georgia are in Atlanta. They are WSB, channel 2, WAGA, 5, and WLTV, 8.

These applications, with the channels requested, are now pending, awaiting the end of the freeze (AH denotes that application was in hearing at the time of the freeze):

Atlanta—AH, Georgia Institute of Technology, 11; AH, E. D. Rivers Jr., 12; AH, General Broadcasting Co., 11.
Augusta—Georgia-Carolina Broadcasting Co., 6.
Columbus—Georgia-Alabama Broadcasting Corp., 3.
Macon—Macon Broadcasting Co., 13; Southeastern Broadcasting Co., 7.
Savannah—WSAV, Inc., 3; Savannah Broadcasting Co., 11.

NEW CHANNELS
The Commission has tentatively allocated channels to 37 Georgia communities under its proposed arrangement. Nearly all are in the UHF, or above 13, band. They follow:

Albany, 10, 25; Americus, 31; Athens, 8, 60; Atlanta, 2, 5, 11, 30, 38; Augusta, 6, 12; Bainbridge, 35; Brunswick, 28, 34; Cairo, 45; Carrollton, 33; Cartersville, 63; Cedartown, 33; Columbus, 4, 23, 34; Cordele, 43; Dalton, 25; Douglas, 32; Dublin, 15; Elberton, 16; Fitzgerald, 23; Fort Valley, 18; Gainesville, 52; Griffin, 39; La Grange, 50; Macdon, 13, 41, 47; Marietta, 11; Milledgeville, 51; Moultrie, 48; Newnan, 61; Rome, 9, 59; Savannah, 3, 9, 11; Statesboro, 22; Swainsboro, 20; Thomasville, 6, 27; Tifton, 14; Toccoa, 33; Valdosta, 8; Vidalia, 26; Waycross, 16.

When the ultra high frequency channels are approved, many manufacturers plan to put out small box attachments for present television sets.
